ROOSEVELT LIBERATES FILIPINOS

Approves Three Papers Before Leaving for Schenley Park.

SIGNS AMNESTY FOR PRISONERS

Civil Rule Conferred by Secretary Root's Order Relieving Chaffee.

OFFICIAL ENCOMIUM OF A GALLANT ARMY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—Three proclamations will usher in the Fourth of July in the Philippines and will mark the beginning of a pure civil government in the Philippines, evolved in the short space of four years from warfare with a foreign power and then from insurrection from the liberated people themselves. Amnesty for political offenses, freedom from military rule and praise for the work of the military forces in Cuba and the Philippines, will be the respective subjects of the three proclamations.

It would have been hard to find a boy in higher feather at the approach of the Fourth than President Roosevelt is at the advent of tomorrow, when the Philippine policy of the McKinley administration, which he took up and has furthered, will be crowned by success on the nation's natal day. At luncheon today he and Secretary Root exchanged congratulations. During the day, which was the last for him to spend in Washington for a few months, he referred to this culmination of the Philippine work frequently, and doubtless will speak of it in his address in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

Secretary Root and Judge Magoon, law officer of the war department, and Col. C. R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, who have been strong aids to the secretary in his work, received many congratulations today. Secretary Root, as he went to the White House today, said:

"I am greatly gratified at the operation of the Philippine bill. It is a continuation and extension of the direction given the Philippine commission by President McKinley. Heretofore the Philippine government has been established on an executive basis. Now it is on a basis of legislative authority. The ending of military rule will give the Filipinos a chance to follow legitimate business. When there is little other occupation open to them than brigandage they are quite likely to turn to brigandage. The only unsatisfactory thing is the disagreement of the two houses on a currency. They differed so widely that there is no possibility of the solution of this question, which will certainly prove a source of embarrassment in the re-establishment of business."

Liberation of Political Prisoners.

The amnesty proclamation is as follows:

Whereas, Many of the inhabitants of the Philippine archipelago were in insurrection against the authority and sovereignty of the kingdom of Spain at divers times from August, 1896, until the cession of that archipelago by that kingdom to the United States of America, and since such cession many of the persons so engaged in insurrection have until recently resisted the authority and sovereignty of the United States; and

Whereas, The insurrection against the authority and sovereignty of the United States is now at an end and peace has been established in all parts of the archipelago, except in the country inhabited by the Moro tribes, to which this proclamation does not apply; and

Whereas, During the course of the insurrection against the kingdom of Spain and against the government of the United States, persons engaged therein, or those in sympathy with and abetting them, committed many acts in violation of the laws of civilized warfare, but it is believed that such acts were generally committed in ignorance of those laws and under orders issued by the civil or military insurrectionary leaders; and

Whereas, It is deemed to be wise and humane, in accordance with the beneficent purpose of the government of the United States toward the Filipino people and conducive to peace, order and loyalty among them, that the doers of such acts who have not already suffered punishment, shall not be held criminally responsible, but shall be relieved from punishment for participation in those insurrections and for unlawful acts committed during the course thereof, by a general amnesty and pardon.

Full Pardon and Amnesty.

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by the constitution, do hereby proclaim and declare, without reservation or condition, except as hereinafter provided, a full and complete pardon and amnesty to all persons in the Philippine archipelago who have given aid and comfort to persons participating in said insurrections, for the offenses of treason or sedition, and for all offenses political in their character, committed in the course of such insurrections pursuant to orders issued by the civil or military insurrectionary authorities, or which grew out of internal political feuds or dissensions between Filipinos and Spaniards or the Spanish authorities, or which resulted from internal political feuds or dissensions among the Filipinos themselves during either of said insurrections.

Provided, however, that the pardon and amnesty hereby granted shall not include such persons committing crimes since May 1, 1902, in any province of the archipelago in which at that time the civil government was established, nor shall it include such persons as have been heretofore finally convicted of the crimes of murder, arson or robbery by any military or civil tribunal organized under the authority of

FREEDOM'S BIRD WILL SCREAM IN THIS TOWN TODAY

President Roosevelt Will Be Given a Patriotic Reception and Thundering Ovation by Over a Million People.

GREATEST FOURTH IN CITY'S HISTORY

Everything is ready. Every plan has been perfected, and everything has been arranged for except the weather. That being in the hands of an all-wise Providence, will be as is best. The prediction made by the weather sharps at Washington last night was for fair and warmer weather for today.

The president left Washington last night in the best of health, and expressing himself as being glad that he is to be in Pittsburgh to spend a patriotic day with people noted for their patriotism. Every precaution has been taken by the railroad officials and employes, so that at 8:30 o'clock this morning, as President Roosevelt arises from his breakfast, he will be greeted by the committee that will meet the train at the East Liberty depot, and welcome him to Pittsburgh.

Good Military Turnout Assured.

The headquarters of the provisional brigade of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, which is to form the escort to the president, was established in rooms 122 and 123, at the Seventh Avenue hotel, early yesterday morning by Brig.-Gen. John A. Wiley, commanding the Second Brigade. He had notified the members of his staff of the time of his arrival, and nearly all of them were present when he got to headquarters.

Commanders of the several organizations that are to take part in the parade also put in an appearance and reported that there would be a good turnout of their respective organizations. All this was very pleasing to Gen. Wiley and by nightfall he had prepared all his arrangements for the reception of the president. "All we need now is good marching weather, and with that I'm sure the president will review as fine a lot of soldiers as can be found in his command," he said. "The citizens of Pittsburgh are to be commended for the untiring efforts made to have this celebration a success."

Formation of the Column.

The Sheridan troop of Tyrone, which has been assigned as personal escort to the president, will take position in the circle in front of the Union station shortly before the arrival of the president's train at 8:45 o'clock. The troopers will be thrown out as flankers, with front and rear guards, and as the president makes his appearance sabres will be presented.

Before the troops take up position in Liberty street their commanders will receive final orders from Gen. Wiley, who will then, with his staff, take position at the head of the column. Gen. Wiley and his staff will leave for the annual encampment at Gettysburg on Saturday.

The formation of the column will be as follows:

Platoon of Mounted Police.
Gen. John A. Wiley and Staff.
Eighteenth Regiment, Col. F. I. Rutledge.
Fourteenth Regiment, Col. W. E. Thompson.
Tenth Regiment, Col. J. E. Barnett.
President Roosevelt, Secretary Cortelyou and Recorder J. O. Brown in Carriage Drawn by Four Horses and Surrounded by Sheridan Troop of Cavalry in Command of Capt. C. S. W. Jones.
Gov. W. A. Stone and Staff.
Guests in Carriages.
Executive Committee of the Celebration.
Boys' Brigade, Col. H. P. Bope.
Union Veteran Legion.
Duquesne Greys.
Washington Infantry, Capt. W. R. Gielfus.

Guards for the President.

Battery B will fire salutes. The first will be the president's salute of 21 guns, and will be fired from the bluff above Union station, near the old Bedford avenue basin. The battery will then go to the top of the ridge back of the Hotel Schenley, where, promptly at 12 o'clock, the union salute will be fired. The battery will be under command of Col. W. T. Rees.

In addition to the president's special escort, the Sheridan troop of cavalry from Tyrone, one of the crack military organizations of the state, he will have a bodyguard known to but few people. This guard was selected for him yesterday, it will be Detectives William Shore, Bernard McStay and William Bradley of Pittsburgh and James Heelan of Washington. These four men will be near him from the time he steps off the train until he is seated at Mr. Frick's for luncheon. In addition it has been arranged for Supt. Philip Demmel and a Washington detective of national reputation to be near the president at all times. When one officer is relieved there will be another to take his place, so that from the time the president arrives in Pittsburgh until he leaves there will always be four or more detectives at his side. This surveillance will be so timed that it will at no time be obtrusive or so that it can be noticed by the president.

The Knox Banquet Tonight.

Following the luncheon at Mr. Frick's handsome residence at Penn and Homewood avenues, the program is as yet a little uncertain. The president will, however, be entertained in a manner that will coincide with his wishes. If he desires to spend the remainder of the afternoon quietly, he will be allowed to do so. If he shall elect to go to Schenley park again and take a survey of the thousands of Western Pennsylvanians celebrating the day in almost a thousand different ways, he will have a large and willing escort. It is the hope of thousands that the president will visit the park in the afternoon and take a look at the sporting events.

At 6 o'clock President Roosevelt will be the guest of Attorney General P. C. Knox at the Hotel Schenley, when he will meet about 200 of Pennsylvania's prominent and representative men, the majority of them Pittsburghers. After the dinner the president will take a view of the fireworks from some high point in the Hotel Schenley. At 2 o'clock tomorrow morning the president will go direct to his home at Oyster Bay, where he will be met by Assistant Secretary Loeb and a number of clerks, telegraphers and messengers. The executive offices in Washington will remain open during the entire summer, and will be in charge of Assistant Secretary Barnes. Upon occasions when Mr. Barnes finds it necessary to go to Oyster Bay, Mr. Foster will be in charge.

The president's home at Oyster Bay is several miles from his offices, and with the view to enjoying the privacy of the family residence, he has decided upon certain office hours, outside of which no public business will be transacted. Assistant Secretary Loeb has taken a house at Oyster Bay, where himself and wife will spend the entire time until the president returns to Washington for the winter.

Stringent Police Rules.

In addition to the Pittsburgh and Allegheny detectives there will be over 20 detectives from other cities on duty in Pittsburgh today. This is particularly gratifying to Director A. H. Leslie and Superintendent Demmel, as well as to the Washington detectives accompanying the presidential party, as in every other city there are Fourth of July celebrations and all of the detectives are ... needed at home. The detectives have ... sent by their superior officers ... courtesy to the president.

The management of the down... streets will be as though martial law ... vailed. Along the route of the par... the streets will be heavily guarded ... the police force, while mounted men w... keep a general eye on the whole city. Everything possible is to be done to avoid accident and to protect the crowds of people who will congest the streets. To this end traffic on downtown streets will cease at an early hour, both vehicles and street cars.

The streets will be roped off, and all traffic on Liberty avenue, Fifth avenue to St. Pierre street, will cease at 9:45 a. m., when the president arrives, until the police lines have been drooped after the parade has passed. Traffic at the intersections at Wood and Smithfield streets with Fifth avenue will absolutely stop at 9 o'clock, and no vehicles will be allowed to approach within 100 feet of the lines along the street.

The Flag to Be Seen Everywhere.

When the column is ready to move eight mounted officers will ride about two squares ahead to see that all orders pertaining to the management of the route have been obeyed, and if there are any infractions to see that they are righted before the column approaches. These eight officers will have little to do if the officers and white wings along the line of march have followed the instructions given them.

The heavy rain yesterday deterred many from decorating early, but toward

President Will Wear Pittsburgh's Colors.

A special badge has been prepared for President Roosevelt, which he will be expected to wear today. A representation of it is given herewith. The flag pin holding the three ribbons is a heavily enameled affair, done in Pittsburgh's official colors—black and gold. The ribbon on which the president's name appears is also black and gold. The other two ribbons are the national colors—red, white and blue. The lettering is done in gold. As a whole the badge is a very handsome one. It will be presented to the president by a member of the committee which meets him at the East Liberty station this morning. At the same time a similar badge will be presented to Secretary George B. Cortelyou.

ight large flags were thrown to the wind and some buildings were literally covered with bunting. It is desired that there be at least an American flag flying from every house which the president will pass during his ride from the Union station to Schenley park. This will be the first glimpse the president will get of the city and it will be an opportunity to show him that the people are as patriotic as they have the reputation of being.

Schenley park presented a curious appearance yesterday. Beginning early in the morning wagons of all kinds of supplies and loads of lumber began to arrive. Then the rain came and stopped all work. As soon as the rain ceased in the afternoon hundreds of men started to work, and by night the entrance to Schenley park near the library was a midway. There are stands of all kinds and shapes.

Plenty of Picnic Food.

There are "watermillions" by the carload piled up in stands, and every one of the melon stands is presided over by one or more negroes. At one stand yesterday afternoon there was nothing but about 50 very suspicious jugs, that looked as if they had come from a wholesale liquor house. They do not contain "red eye," however, but the syrups for a soda water stand. If there is one bag there are 50 at one stand. They contain peanuts, and as each one of the bags will furnish the contents for 1,000 paper sacks, there are peanuts enough so that every visitor can have a sack.

Gasoline stoves are numerous in the stands, which indicates there will be plenty of coffee. There were wagonloads of bread, and the bakeries were well represented in other ways, as at some stands there were large piles of boxes of cakes and crackers. There will be plenty of food for all. There will be plenty of candy and pop corn, there will be plenty of soda water and bottled pop, and there will be ice cream for all who care to buy. Great preparations have been made to feed all who come.

More Street Car Regulations.

While the parade is moving today, there will be no cars on Fifth avenue. When the parade starts from Union depot word will be telephoned to the Oakland car barn to run all cars down town via Forbes street and Sixth avenue. If it is impossible to cross Fifth avenue at High street the cars will be turned back at the switch on Forbes street, near the Newsboys' home. This switch and the short loop on Grant street, will be used during the day if lower Sixth avenue and Fifth avenue are congested with cars.

Supt. John Murphy of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and his assistants yesterday completed every arrangement possible for the prompt and careful operation of cars. Several more new routes or extra lines of cars were decided on. One will be from downtown to Neville street. It was also decided to run some of the Wylie, Center and Larimer cars via Center avenue, Craig street and Forbes street to downtown, and return the same way, as long as Forbes street is open. When Forbes street is closed, all cars now running on that thoroughfare will be run on Fifth avenue. This will also be the route of half of the Frankstown avenue cars, which now run on Penn avenue. Diverting the Center and Larimer and the Frankstown cars to Forbes street or Fifth avenue will give many thousands of people who cannot now reach Schenley without transferring a chance to get there direct and for one fare.

Precautions Against Accident.

Every possible precaution has been taken to avoid accident. At Schenley park entrance there will be a dozen or more officers, inspectors and all day and night. On all hills, especially the Soho hill, men will be stationed to keep cars proper distances apart. Cars eastbound on Forbes street or Fifth avenue will not run between Brady street and Craft avenue. A telephone has been put in the booth at the entrance to Schenley park, which will be used by the street car men for moving cars. Last night large signs reading: "Take Eastbound Cars at Craig Street," and "Take Westbound Cars at Oakland avenue," were placed about the park entrance.

The officers of the Pittsburgh Railways Company explain that the reason for no transfers today is because of the delay that would be made at all junction points if they were issued. To show that it is no attempt to make money, or to take advantage of the people, the order was issued last night to all conductors not to charge double or night fare after midnight. The regular night fare will not go into effect until 2 o'clock in the morning, and before that time all persons will be able to get to their homes. Over 1,000 cars will be operated by the Pittsburgh Railways Company today.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and warmer is the prediction for Pittsburgh for today. The Washington weather observer at almost the last moment last night, changed his mind, and instead of the wet day, which he had promised for Pittsburgh, predicts that the big celebration of Independence day in this city will not be interrupted by rain, and the people of the city and those who have come here, will be given an opportunity to give the president a welcome such as he never had before from any community. The maximum temperature yesterday was 88 and the minimum 77 degrees.

OFFICIALS IN CHARGE OF PITTSBURGH'S GREAT CELEBRATION

BY TRAIN LOADS PEOPLE BEGIN ARRIVING HERE

First Visitors to Fourth of July Celebration Arrived Last Night.

READY FOR MANY GUESTS

Railroads and Hotels Have Made Elaborate Arrangements—Today's Railroad Passengers Expected to Number 300,000.

All roads led to Pittsburgh last night, and on all incoming railroad trains were hundreds of visitors from surrounding towns, who came to the city early to be on hand for the big celebration of the Fourth today. The railroads arranged special excursion rates for yesterday and today, and seldom in the history of the railroad stations in this city have such large crowds of travelers been seen before.

At the new Union station the attendants were kept busy all evening directing strangers and there was little time for anything else. By midnight the attaches of the railroad stations were almost played out, but there was no quitting, for with the arrival of trains, which seemed to pull into the station every few minutes, people by the hundreds scrambled off either to meet friends or inquire the direction to hotels. It was impossible to estimate with any kind of accuracy the number of people who came in on the railroads last night, for people and grips seemed to roll from the trains incessantly.

Westerners Surprised at Noise.

Few people left Pittsburgh last night on the local trains. On the through trains, however, there were good passenger lists and a large number went to Atlantic City on the three days' excursion to escape the noise accompanying the big demonstration in the city last night and today. The brokers' offices will all be closed today, and many of those connected with these offices accepted the chance to get away for a day or two.

The trains which pulled into the Union station from the east last night carried very few passengers, but those bound for the cities of the west were given a big surprise here. The shooting in the vicinity of the station was kept up all evening and many of the western people expressed surprise, as they had never heard such a demonstration in honor of Independence Day before.

If completeness of railroad accommodations and elaborateness of hotel arrangements can add to the pleasure of Pittsburgh's guests today, those factors will have no small part in making the day memorable. The passenger and transportation officials of the various railroads leading into Pittsburgh who have kept in close touch with the situation, were confident that today, if the weather is fair, the number of passengers from out of town will reach at least 300,000 from all the lines, while the figures will not be far below that even in the event of bad weather.

Specials From All Points.

Long before the president's train has arrived special trains bearing thousands of visitors from towns within a radius of 150 miles will have begun to arrive and long after the coming of the presidential special these trains will continue to pull into the various stations.

An official of the Pennsylvania railroad said yesterday that a fair estimate of the number of passengers at the Union station today would be 200,000. These would come from all the nearby divisions of the system. To handle them extra coaches have been brought from many parts of the lines east and west, and the various lines have been called upon to contribute their quotas toward supplying the special needs of Pittsburgh today. Last night these cars were stored in the various yards along the territory all ready for a busy day.

On the regular trains there will be additional coaches, second and third sections will be run, and, if necessary, special trains will be made up for the occasion.

The Baltimore & Ohio has made arrangements to handle 50,000 people. There will be half-hourly service between McKeesport and Pittsburgh, part of the day, and hourly trains the rest. Sufficient trains will be ready to accommodate the expected crowds from Cumberland, Rockwood, Meyersdale, Connellsville and other important towns along the division. From Fairmont and from Wheeling two or three specials will be run, while from Youngstown and other points along the Pittsburgh & Western, there will be four special trains, or enough to bring everybody that wishes to come.

All persons on the Baltimore & Ohio from the nearby points will be ticketed to Panther Hollow, and the trains bringing these people will not be run to the depot on Water street, but to Panther hollow in Schenley park. The people who are let off their trains in Panther hollow must take the trains there when they want to return. This is done so that there may be no delay in the handling of trains, and for the benefit of the visitors.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie has also prepared for unusual travel. By drawing upon the various other Vanderbilt lines, there has been secured a large number of additional coaches. All the passenger stations will bear the bunting and flags that mark the day. Last night the decorators were busy arranging this.

The features of the day at the hotels will be patriotically decorated tables, patriotic music and most unusual crowds. The markets have been drawn upon heavily in preparation for today, and a most amazing supply of edibles will be ready for consumption.

PRESIDENT STARTS FOR PITTSBURGH

His Train Is Running Over Carefully Watched Track for Fear of Tragedy.

In a special train of three cars over the Pennsylvania railroad the president left Washington, D. C., last evening at 7:45 o'clock. The train was run as a section of the Chicago express. It reached Baltimore at 8:45 p. m., and 15 minutes later left that city over the Northern Central line of the Pennsylvania. From Harrisburg, where it joined the main line, it was run as a third section of No. 9.

Officials of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad expected to receive the special on this division at Altoona about 2:40 a. m. It is running from Altoona west on a somewhat slower schedule than train No. 9, and arrives at Union station, Pittsburgh, at 8:45 a. m. The train is expected to pass Latrobe about 7:30 and Greensburg at about 7:45.

The train is made up of the private Pullman car Olympia, the compartment car Hebron and a baggage car. Those in the party with the president are Attorney General P. C. Knox, who will be the president's host here; Secretary Cortelyou, Dr. John F. Urie, the president's physician, and M. A. Latta, one of the White House stenographers.

Half Hour Late at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, PA., July 4.—President Roosevelt's special train arrived here at 11:40 o'clock last night and left at 12:25 a. m., 31 minutes late.

For more than 30 years we have catered to the cultured classes, especially public educators and institutions, and we can point with pride to the fact that we have sold to more teachers, schools and colleges than perhaps all other music houses combined. Our relations have always been the most cordial, and our earnest desire is to make every teacher a friend of this house—by being of genuine service to them and their friends. And on this occasion especially we invite the teachers from out of town and near-by to visit this old reliable and largest piano house in Pennsylvania to inspect our elegant stock of pianos and Angelus especially assembled for their examination, whether they purchase or not.

Come in and see and hear our instruments so you may tell your friends, if nothing more.

Teachers will find a visit particularly congenial from the fact that special inducements are now offered these instructors. And special inducements at Hamilton's are invariably worth considering.

It is pertinent here to remark that Mr. Hamilton controls the sale in this territory of the famous A. B. Chase piano, which is unquestionably the most desirable piano on the market. It is very generally spoken of as "an art piano for artists," because of the exquisite refinement of its tone. There is no other piano quite in the same class as the A. B. Chase, which fact you can easily verify by seeing and hearing this best of all pianos.

The J. & C. Fischer is another piano of conspicuous prominence. The Fischer has the distinction of being the most remarkable piano in existence in point of brilliant vibrant quality. Then there is the Schumann, truly a delightful instrument, famed for its sweet, sympathetic tone quality. The Schumann is a prime favorite, and its price is within the reach of anyone.

Of course, it is impossible to enumerate and particularize all the pianos in a stock of this magnitude, but it is essential that mention should be made of the Hamilton, the Smith & Barnes, New England and others—all are reliable pianos. Prices range from $200 up. Easy monthly payments can be arranged if desired, and vacation month payments omitted.

Do not fail to hear the Angelus, the greatest of all piano players. The Angelus can be operated by any person—even children can operate it, as experience is absolutely unnecessary. The Angelus plays any piano, and no difference what character of music you prefer, you'll find your favorites included in the repertory of the Angelus, which really is unique. It does all that any other player does—and more. Once you hear the Angelus you'll not consider any other.

Also everything comprised in the line of musical merchandise is to be found here—and every article is sold at a price that makes purchasing especially attractive for those who wish the BEST and are willing to come where money can be saved as well.

If you can't call, be sure to write for catalogue, which will be sent to you immediately.

CELEBRATION OF LAST NIGHT LEFT A DREAD RECORD

One Boy Is Dead, Another Will Die and Many Are Injured.

REVOLVER AND A TOY GUN

They Caused Fatal Injuries, While Cannon Crackers, Sky Rockets and Other Noise-Makers Figured in Casualty List.

If the premature celebration of the Fourth this year is any guide, the list of dead and injured will be a fearful one. Already one boy is dead, another will die and many persons are seriously hurt, as a result of the preliminary cannonading.

John Notch, 10 years old, of No. 4419 Laurel street, was celebrating the coming of the glorious day with a 32-caliber revolver in front of his house last night at 8 o'clock. While discharging the weapon he pointed the gun in the wrong direction and the bullet entered the pit of his stomach. He was taken to the West Penn hospital. After the physicians removed the ball from his body last night they expressed no hope of his recovery.

The unfortunate lad was firing the revolver in front of his parents. He had a box of cartridges that were mixed with blanks. Through some mistake he placed a loaded cartridge in the revolver. After unloading the gun he whirled it about his head in true cowboy style, shooting in all directions. About the third shot he discharged the weapon at the pavement. In his excitement he pointed the gun at his stomach and pulled the trigger. He is a son of James Notch.

One Boy Is Dead.

Peter Taintor, eight years of age, son of Thomas Taintor, commenced his celebration of the Fourth on Monday. He was a country boy, living in North Versailles township, and he went to Turtle Creek and bought a toy revolver and some blank cartridges. After he went home, and had amused himself shooting right and left, he was joined by a boy of about his own age. After other ways of shooting, young Taintor told the other boy he would show him how to commit suicide. Placing the revolver to his stomach he pulled the trigger. The cartridge exploded and the wad, with some pieces of his clothing, was forced into him. Physicians had worked with him ever since, but to no avail. He died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Willie Mitchell of Heisel street, Homestead, was shooting sky rockets last night and in his excitement forget to hold one of them up in the air. He received the contents of the cylinder in the face. The physicians could not say last night whether Willie will ever see again or not.

Many Were Hurt.

Ralph Hawthorne, 18 years of age, and a number of boys about his age, were celebrating in Braddock last night with revolvers. Somebody shot Ralp through the leg. He does not know who did it, and is not sure but that he did it himself. He was taken to his home in Tamp avenue and will spend the Fourth in bed.

Edward Silvers of Third street, Rankin, 16 years of age, took a dare last night. Another boy dared him to hold a large fire cracker in his and when it was fired off. He did so. He only has two fingers left on the hand, and those two are in a damaged condition. The cracker blew away the balance of his hand.

A young woman who refused to tell her name was wounded in the leg by the explosion of a blank cartridge, as she was passing Fourth avenue and Smithfield street about 10 o'clock. She was taken to the Homeopathic hospital, where a wound in the calf of her leg was dressed, after which she departed. She said her home was in Ohio and that she was stopping at a hotel here for a few days and that she would not alarm her friends by telling her name.

Cannon Cracker's Work.

C. Sommese, a grocer of No. 1415 Penn avenue, last night attempted to hold a large cannon cracker in his hand while it exploded. As a result he had the flesh of his hand badly torn and burned and is wearing the injured member in a sling.

Fred Stempbell and John Gohofoski were arrested last night by Police Officer James Delahanty and locked up as suspicious persons for firing revolvers on Penn avenue. Both men had large caliber revolvers and were celebrating by firing them along the crowded avenue.

Seven men and boys were arrested in the downtown districts during the evening for firing ball cartridges in the streets.

The East End police, acting under the instructions issued by Director A. H. Leslie, arrested 11 men, mostly negroes, for firing off revolvers on the streets last night. They were placed in the East End police station for violating a city ordinance. The prisoners are George Rowe, Bennett Sheets, Thomas Barks, No. 5624 Penn avenue; George Dotey, Winslow street; Edward Thomas, No. 241 Omega street; Robert Mason, No. 6322 Penn avenue; James Tweedle, No. 648 River avenue; Andrew Gordon, Lenora street; Robert Marshall, Aurella street; Samuel Greer, Princeton place; and Charles Thomas, Omega street. All were released later on forfeits of $10 each.

SOLDIERS GATHER AT THE PALACE GATE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 3.—Everything points to a satisfactory if somewhat prolonged convalescence of the king. It is expected that the bulletins regarding his condition will soon be reduced to one a day. One physician only now remains at the palace throughout the night, and all of his majesty's doctors are able to attend to the more pressing portion of their private practices. Sir Frederick Treves absented himself from the palace today to attend the wedding of his only daughter to Maj. Delme Radcliffe.

Crowds of soldiers make daily pilgrimages to Buckingham palace to gaze at the window of his majesty's apartment, while people gather to stare at the strange uniforms and stranger faces of the native soldiers from distant quarters of the empire.

A striking scene was witnessed today. A big brake loaded with Fijian soldiers drew up in front of the palace. The men were bare-legged and bare-headed; their frizzy hair was long and dyed, and with their white cotton shirts and quaint tunics they presented a strange spectacle, even in cosmopolitan London. In front of the palace the Fijians solemnly chanted a hymn of intercession in their native tongue, which had been composed for the occasion by one of their numbers.

The following bulletin was posted at 7 p. m.: "His majesty had a comfortable day. His general condition is still further improved, and the wound now causes him comparatively little pain."

PENNYPACKER MEETS FRIENDS AT THE SCHENLEY

Republican Nominee for Governor Receives the Local Party Leaders.

PATTISON IS IN THE CITY

He Meets George W. Guthrie, Col. J. M. Guffey and Others at Dinner Given by A. J. Barr—Stone Is Here.

The lobby of the Hotel Schenley was crowded last evening with Allegheny county Republicans who were eager to greet their candidate for governor, Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker of Philadelphia.

The judge reached the city last evening, shortly after 7 o'clock. On the same train were Gov. William A. Stone and his staff, and ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison, the Democratic nominee for governor. These prominent men are here as the guests of the city and will take part in the great celebration today.

While none of them came here to attend political conferences, all talked politics. On the train coming over Pennypacker and Pattison forgot that they were rivals for the highest office in the gift of the people of the state and chatted about business and other things. They are old friends. The judge and Stone met on the train, but their talk was not of the approaching campaign.

Judge Had Many Callers.

Judge Pennypacker was the guest of George T. Oliver and family at dinner last evening. It was about 9 o'clock when the judge reached the Hotel Schenley, where he will be quartered while in the city. Yesterday afternoon the Republican county, congressional and legislative candidates held a meeting and decided to call upon the nominee for governor. Besides the candidates City Chairman J. O. Brown, County Chairman A. C. Robertson and Robert Ostermaier, secretary of the city committee, were in the party. Col. A. J. Logan, chairman of the executive committee of the Fourth of July celebration, also paid his respects to Judge Pennypacker. There were many other callers. Among the number was Clarence Burleigh, who presented the judge with one of the handsome guest badges.

Judge Pennypacker has little to say about state politics. He says that he has come here as a private citizen of Pennsylvania to greet the president. While he expected to meet Senators Quay and Penrose and others, today and tomorrow, he does not intend to make any campaign plans while here.

He May Resign.

The judge says that he has not determined whether he will go on the stump this fall. If he does he will resign from the bench, but if he decides that he will not make any speeches this fall, he will continue in his present capacity until he is sworn in as governor of Pennsylvania. He says that the management of his campaign will be left entirely to the state committee and its officers. Judge Pennypacker remarked that he was not acquainted with the complications in Allegheny county politics.

Senators Quay and Penrose spent all of yesterday in Beaver. Quay said he had no engagement to meet Stone at the Schenley last night. Both senators will come up to the city this morning and assist in entertaining the president. They will probably be at the Schenley during the day, but it cannot be found that Quay has any engagement with Stone. Some of his friends say that they do not expect him to talk politics with the governor or later during the campaign.

Pattison Entertained.

Ex-Gov. Pattison was the guest of A. J. Barr last evening at dinner at his home in Bidwell street. The guests were the ex-governor, Col. J. M. Guffey, George W. Guthrie, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, Charles A. Fagan, J. J. Miller, W. L. Jones, S. J. Graham, F. X. Barr, T. W. Fitch and John B. Jackson. It was not a political dinner, as it will be noticed that the guests were not all Democrats. A large china rooster adorned the center of the table.

After dinner Gov. Pattison, Col. Guffey and Mr. Guthrie chatted a little about the situation, but did not make plans for the campaign. Pattison says that about the second week in September he will start on a tour of the state. Guthrie will accompany him the greater part of the time. In speaking of the situation in Philadelphia he said that a committee of 100 would be named there to aid in conducting the campaign. He says that he will not challenge Pennypacker to a joint debate, as in his opinion this style of campaign has not been a success in Pennsylvania. He has no prediction to make about the result of the fight.

Gov. Stone, Adjt. Gen. Thomas J. Stewart and the members of the governor's staff are at the Schenley. Soon after his arrival Stone had a talk with Recorder Brown and Chairman Burleigh. Stone says that he has nothing to say about politics, either locally or otherwise.

THE TEACHERS HAVE STARTED ON LONG TOUR

Guests of The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph Are Off.

FRIENDS GAVE THEM A FAREWELL

Great Crowd Gathered at Union Station Last Night to See the Start.

NOT A HITCH MARRED PROGRAM ARRANGED

There was a flurry and a scurry at Union station last night that caused the stolid attendants at the big terminal to realize that the long-heralded European tour of Western Pennsylvania's most popular teachers was about to begin.

Surrounded by the friends that made their trip possible, the 27 teachers, who for the next seven weeks will be the guests of The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph in a tour of the principal cities of Europe, were escorted aboard the palatial Pullman sleepers, Wales and Portugal, on the initial trip to New York, where on Saturday they will board the steamer Minnehaha for London.

Long before train time, the successful participants gathered in the depot. Hundreds of their friends came to bid them godspeed and a safe return, and a gay and happy crowd thronged the corridors and waiting-room of the Union depot. Every candidate had her own circle of friends and well-wishers, each offering some useful bit of advice, and making suggestions, that might be well taken, for green ocean and blue sky disease, but owing to the thoughtfulness of the Gazette in providing a double-keel boat, many of these recipes will have to wait some future visit to occidental climes.

Gathered at Station.

L. W. Strayer, the personal representative of the Gazette, who accompanies the party through Europe, was kept busy introducing members of the party to each other, and otherwise attending to the little wants so necessary to a successful beginning of what promises to be without a doubt the greatest tour of its kind ever undertaken by any newspaper.

Prof. Robert M. Cargo was the center of a group of teachers in the schools under his supervision, each twitting him on his splendid appearance and enacting promises of remembrances from abroad. Mrs. M. R. Reyman, who heads the list of successful teachers, had to shake hands all around and kiss all the babies on the platform. Miss Mary J. Stone of Rochester, sister of United States Marshal Stone, was accompanied by her brother and other friends from Beaver county, who complimented the Gazette's representatives on the smooth manner in which all arrangements were carried out.

Friends Gave Them Send Off.

Miss Bertha Tiegel, Miss Mary B. Ferguson, Miss Alma Aiod, Miss Amelia Sommerlock, Miss Anna C. Leckey, Miss Edna Klein, Miss Blanche Wachob, Miss Mary C. Greves, Miss Ella Linton, Miss Georgia M. Lacock, Miss Edith J. Latshaw, Mrs. F. A. Pollock, Miss Sadie A. M. Walker, Charles E. Carter, Miss Florence Gettier, Miss Mary Ellen Steele, Miss Lulu Findley, Miss Clara Smith, Miss Anna S. Keener, John W. Anthony, C. G. Herzog, Miss Emma Campbell, Miss Eva Hamilton, the other sucessful candidates for the trip were each kept busy by their numerous friends, shaking hands and accepting advice. All succeeded in getting comfortably seated, before the train moved out, and thousands of waving handkerchiefs made a pretty picture, as the loved ones, leaning far out the car windows, passed from view.

The Gazette has arranged for a dinner to the entire party this evening at the Fifth Avenue hotel, where each teacher will be presented with a purse containing 10 English sovereigns, and in addition, money for a return Pullman ticket from New York.

Kodaks in Evidence.

Every comfort that can be thought of will be provided. Many of the teachers are carrying binoculars and cameras to take views on the British islands and the continent.

The party was a most jolly one, as the members met in the big trainshed. Many of them were well-known to one another, and in some cases it was a reunion of old friends, who had not met for several years. Nine of the teachers are graduates of the same normal school at Indiana, Pa., and as scores of the friends that accompanied them to the station went to the same alma mater, there was in one corner of the waiting room a bona fide alumni reunion.

The Gazette and Chronicle-Telegraph have arranged to keep its readers in touch with the party as it moves through Europe, so that all can tell just where they are and what they are doing. Mrs. E. Stewart, Miss Jane Boyd and Miss Sophia Latshaw of Pittsburgh, Miss J. L. Fielding, Miss Margaret Herdman of Allegheny, Miss Mary Herdman of Allegheny and Mrs. George H. Sonneborn of New York will accompany the party.

The tour was arranged by Thomas Cook & Son and their representatives will accompany the party and have charge of all the details.

Interesting Papers on Higher Education and the Uses of English Language—Phonetic System of Spelling to Be Used.

The forty-seventh annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Educational society was brought to a close last night in the Alvin theater. The teachers will take an active part in today's celebration. A business session was held and the report of the committee named to procure increases in salary for the teachers referred to the Superintendents' association. The committee on methods of spelling recommended that the "phonetic system" be used. Supt. J. M. Berkey then discussed the subject, "Should the provisional certificate be granted to any teacher for more than three years?" He contended that it should not.

The morning session was one of the most notable in the history of the organization, there being 2,000 teachers gathered from all sections of the country. Prof. Thomas C. Blaisdell, after prayer had been offered, read a paper on "English in the Primary, Secondary and Higher Grades."

"The teacher," said Prof. Blaisdell, "should first of all make his pupils realize that they have literary power in their own experiences; that they can write compositions well. Young people should be taught to read good literature and be able to distinguish it from the inferior qualities of literature that are forced upon the public. Most teachers prefer to teach literature to composition, to teach writing in preference to reading. The problem will never be solved until these subjects are brought hand to hand."

A discussion on the subject of "Centralization of Township Schools" was led by Prof. W. W. Ulerich. The legislature has passed an act authorizing the centralization of township schools, but, Prof. Ulerich says, nothing has been done toward putting the law into effect. The address of the morning, however, was that of Supt. N. C. Schaffer, on "Summer Schools," and exhaustive treatise showing the necessity of higher education for teachers.

While the general session was being held in the Alvin department conferences were being held in the North school, Duquesne way.

CROWD BEGAN EARLY TO CELEBRATE FOURTH

The Racket on Downtown Streets Last Night Was Earsplitting.

Surely a million, it seemed a billion, Mont Pelees let go on the streets of Pittsburgh and Allegheny last evening. If there were not 25,000 deaths, as a result of the local eruption, no credit for the escape can be given the boys and girls, large and small, who were responsible for the pyrotechnics. No one with a nervous disposition had any business to venture forth from 7 o'clock to midnight.

The cannon-cracker, and that other instrument of torture, the can with a loaded end, were the favorite noise-makers.

To the pedestrian, who had just passed through the fusillade of the former, the sporty youth or bright-faced girl, carrying an ordinary looking cane that seemed harmless, but when the instrument was suddenly clapped to the ground and a thunderous report followed the rack on the nerves was fearful.

There were, of course, incidents without end. To scare the staidness from a dignified business man in evening dress and cause him to swear a few, seemed a favorite prank. The usual number of burns and hurts resulted and there was also the customary record of frightened horses, but as far as possible the drivers kept to the alleys and side streets.

The crowds on the downtown streets were great and on the constant move. The police offered no interference to the merriment, as long as it kept within very wide bounds, and the city was given up to the eve of the Fourth.

Independence Day is always ushered in with a loud outburst of explosive enthusiasm in Pittsburgh, but last night's celebration of the coming of the day was worthy of the greatest Fourth in Father Pitt's history.

SOUTH SIDE TO HAVE ITS OWN CELEBRATION

McKinley Park Will Witness a Big Display of Patriotism by Hill Top Residents.

After seeing the president today and viewing the great civic and military parade, the citizens of the hill top districts propose to have a celebration all to themselves, though people from all parts of the city have been invited.

The celebration will be held in McKinley park in the Thirty-eighth ward, under the auspices of the Hill Top board of trade. An interesting program has been arranged, which includes a big display of fireworks in the evening. The Pennsylvania State band will provide the music. "The Star Spangled Banner" will be sung by Richard Gaines, the "Suwanee River" by Miss Margaret Stoerkel, the phenomenal child contralto, and "Columbia" by George Hepline.

Following these there will be wheelbarrow and various other kinds of races, including a 100-yard dash and a baseball game. McKinley park is one of the prettiest breathing spots in the city, and is remarkable for its area, comprising nearly 63 acres. It was formerly known as Maple park.

The fireworks display will be in 46 pieces, the largest seen on the South Side in many years. It will be announced by three monster 13½-inch shells, that will rival Mt. Pelee in making noise.

TALBOT'S ACCUSERS ARE NOT SUSTAINED

Board of Inquiry Finds Testimony Insufficient to Jusitfy Trial of the Bishop.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, July 3.—The charges of conduct unbecoming a bishop, made against Bishop Talbot of the Central Pennsylvania diocese of the Episcopal church, by the Rev. Dr. Irvine of Philadelphia, formerly rector of St. John's parish, Huntingdon, are not sufficient to justify a trial by the house of bishops. By a vote of 5 to 4 this verdict was rendered today by the board of inquiry, appointed to hear testimony on the charges against the accused bishop, who was neither present at the hearing nor represented by counsel.

Four of the members of the board who voted against placing the bishop on trial are members of his diocese. They were the Rev. Dr. J. C. Powers, Pottsville; Colonel W. Fred Reynolds, Bellefonte; Hugh M. North, Columbia, and the Rev. Dr. P. C. Foley, Williamsport. The fifth member was the Rev. William R. Huntingdon, of the New York diocese. Those voting to place the bishop on trial were the Rev. Dr. W. B. Bodine, of the Pennsylvania diocese; the Rev. Dr. J. S. B. Hodges and Daniel M. Thomas, Maryland diocese, and the Rev. J. Lewis Parks, New York diocese.

Dr. Irvine will make application for another hearing and for the appointment of a new board of inquiry on the ground that the Rev. Dr. Powers was not eligible to serve upon the board.

THE "FIGHTING TENTH" AIDED IN CELEBRATION.

Last night's preliminary celebration of the Fourth in Pittsburgh proved too tempting to the "Fighting Tenth." They arrived in the city last evening, and as fast as the soldiers were unloaded and heard the cannonading on the downtown streets, they seemed to melt away. The first battalion to come in scattered in 15 minutes after their arrival, and the others soon followed suit. The blue uniforms were in evidence everywhere on the downtown streets, and Uncle Sam's Philippine veterans were celebrating with all the enthusiasm of the boy with his first toy pistol.

The officers, after their subordinates had disappeared, waited disconsolately for a few moments, and then they, too, made tracks for the centers of noise and excitement. They were surprised at the suddenness with which their companies melted away, but all were in good humor and said they hoped the "boys" would enjoy their holiday last night, as they would be expected to be on their good behavior today.

FATAL CRASH OF TWO TRAINS AT GLENSHAW

One Woman Is Dead, Four Persons Severely Hurt and a Score Slightly.

WAS REAR-END COLLISION

Fast Express Ran Into Butler Accommodation on the Pittsburgh & Western Yesterday Morning. Wrecked Freight Train Was Cause

One dead, four severely injured and a score slightly injured was the result of the wreck on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad at Glenshaw, eight miles from Pittsburgh, at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning.

The wreck occurred but a short distance from the station. At Butler accommodation train No. 151 was pulling from the depot. Train No. 43, an express, ran into the rear end, causing the rear coach to telescope the one next to it.

Mrs. E. Quinn, 75 years of age, of Bakerstown, was the worst injured. She was taken to the Allegheny General hospital, where she died at 1:30. The badly injured are: H. E. Stucker, No. 7 Garrison alley, Allegheny, head and left leg injured, at Allegheny General hospital; Frank Francesco, 20 years of age, railroad employe, left leg broken, at Allegheny General hospital; Charles C. Leslie Aspinwall, 50 years of age, left leg broken. Mrs. A. A. Thompson, Avalon, cut on head, taken to Butler; John C. Reed, Sharpsburg, cut on leg; Mrs. E. Eaton, No. 42 Isabella street, Allegheny, cut by glass.

The wreck was caused by a freight train being wrecked at Sharpsburg. This blocked the tracks, so the Butler accommodation could not come into the city, and the crew did not protect the rear of their train.

FOUGHT ON BEACH.

Man Who Spent Night With Disbrow Tells What He Told Him About Foster.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The hearing in the case of Louis A. Disbrow, accused of the murder of Sarah Lawrence and Clarence Foster, was resumed in Good Ground, L. I., today.

Several witnesses testified to a wound on Foster's head and Dr. Thomas T. Chattle testified that the wound could not have been made after Foster's death.

William Walton, a painter, testified that he spent the night of the disappearance with Disbrow. The witness then continued:

"He told me that he and Foster and Dimple Lawrence had been over to the Hampton Pines club. All three had gone from there to Ternell's, where he and Foster had a fight on the beach. Foster took him by the throat and threw him down.

"He told me that on Friday while the three of them were down on the beach, 'Dimple' said she loved Clarence Foster and that Clarence said he loved 'Dimp,' and that they were going away together."

CROPS ARE DEVASTATED

Children Are Rescued from a Stream Near Toronto, O.—Corpse Is Submerged in a House in Sharon. Live Stock Killed by Lightning.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oil City, Pa., July 3.—The almost continuous rains in this vicinity during the past 24 hours have caused a loss of thousands of dollars and one life. Two bridges have been swept away in this county and two pumping stations of the National Transit Company are flooded. Trains on all divisions of the Pennsylvania railroad are late, caused by washouts and landslides. A traction company park near Pleasantville was flooded and the animals in the zoo drowned. At Tionesta Will Anthony, aged 14, was drowned. The Allegheny river at Oil City has risen four feet since 8 o'clock this morning.

NEWARK, O., July 3.—(Special.)—James Emerson and a team of horses were killed by lightning near Alexandria this evening. Emerson was hauling hay.

TORONTO, O., July 3.—(Special.)—Six people attempted to cross Croxton run at this place tonight in a surrey. The run was a raging torrent several feet deep and the surrey was upset. All succeeded in getting out but Lucy Daniels, 10 years old, and a baby belonging to Curt Goodman. A fourth of a mile away the baby was found alive, while the girl was carried a half mile to the river clinging to a buggy cushion, where she was rescued by Charles Petty. It is thought both will recover.

SHARON, PA., July 3.—One of the most violent storms and heaviest rainfall in years occurred here today. Traffic of all kinds was suspended during the height of the storm and streets were choked with water to a depth of over a foot. The Shenango river threatens to overflow its banks. The damage in other parts of the county is estimated at $10,000. A number of barns were destroyed by lightning and valuable stock killed.

One of the peculiar happenings of the storm is related by W. D. Sample, a local undertaker. He had placed a corpse in a coffin in a house on Fisk street, shortly before the storm occurred. The dwelling being below the street level, was flooded to a depth of two feet. The family was forced to leave and Sample waded through the flooded house in order to lift the submerged coffin to a more secure place.

INDIANA, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—A heavy rain about noon, followed by hail, caused the small creeks running through the town to break over their banks, washing two bridges away. Houses along the main stream were flooded. Work at the foundry was stopped owing to high water. Gardens throughout town are ruined and the corn fields are washed out. Many county bridges were also washed aay.

CANONSBURG, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—A heavy rain storm passed over this section this afternoon, doing great damage to farm crops. The lower part of Canonsburg was flooded and for a time the streets were several feet deep with water. The Gibbs barber shop was damaged to the extent of $400. J. A. Tife & Son, liverymen, lost heavily. In South Canonsburg several families had to be assisted from their homes.

CUMBERLAND, July 3.—(Special.)—A cyclone passed over the northern portion of the town this evening. The roof on the Cumberland brewery was carried across the street and hurled against three frame dwellings, occupied by Charles Graff, Mrs. Rebecca Miller and Conrad Metzgar, badly wrecking the buildings. Trees were torn up by the roots, telegraph wires blown down and street car traffic blocked.

BAILEY A LITTLE COOLER.

He Says He Will Seek Advice of Friends Before Proceeding Against Penfield.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—(Special.)—Senator Bailey of Texas arrived in Washington this morning from New York and left this afternoon for Texas. In response to a telegram from his wife announcing that one of his sons had been hurt in a runaway accident, Bailey told a member of the Texas delegation in the house that he had not read Solicitor Penfield's published statement and that he did not intend to do so until the pressing matters which are engaging his attention at present are out of the way. He indicated that when he did familiarize himself with the contents of this statement, he would first consult his friends before taking any action in the matter, and that he would be guided by their advice.

Solicitor Penfield will leave the city for Indiana Saturday on Sunday on an extended visiting trip.

The friends of Senator Bailey say a demand will certainly be made upon the president or Secretary Hay for the disciplining of Solicitor Penfield. As a precedent for this, they point to the fact that the president has severely reprimanded officers of the army of high rank for less opprobrious comments.

I, ——, solemnly swear (or affirm) that I recognize and accept the supreme authority of the United States of America in the Philippine Islands, and will maintain true faith and allegiance thereto, that I impose upon myself this obligation voluntarily, without mental reservation or purpose of evasion, so help me God.

Given under my hand at the city of Washington, on this 4th day of July, in the year of Our Lord, 1902, and in the 127th year of the independence of the United States.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Transfer of Government.

Gen. Chaffee is relieved of his civil duties, and the Philippine commission is made the authority, in the following order:

The insurrection against the sovereign authority of the United States in the Philippine archipelago having ended, and provincial civil governments having been established throughout the entire territory of the archipelago not inhabited by Moro tribes, under the instructions of the president to the Philippine commission, dated April 7, 1900, now ratified and confirmed by the act of congress, approved July 1, 1902, entitled "An act temporarily to provide for the administration of affairs of civil government in the Philippine islands and for other purposes," the general commanding the division of the Philippines is hereby relieved from the further performance of the duties of military governor, and the office of military governor in said archipelago is terminated. The general commanding the division of the Philippines and all military officers in authority therein will continue to observe the direction contained in the aforesaid instructions of the president, that the military forces in the division of the Philippines shall be at all times subject, under the orders of the military commander, to the call of the civil authorities for the maintenance of law and order and the enforcement of their authority.

Good Words for the Army.

Finally the president, through Secretary Root, pronounces the following eulogy upon the United States army:

To the Army of the United States.

The president, upon this anniversary of national independence, wishes to express to the officers and enlisted men of the United States army his deep appreciation of the service they have rendered to the country in the great and difficult undertakings which they have brought to a successful conclusion during the past year.

He thanks the officers and the enlisted men who have been maintaining order and carrying on the military government in Cuba, because they have faithfully given effect to the humane purposes of the American people. They have with sincere kindness helped the Cuban people to take all the successive steps necessary to the establishment of their own constitutional government. During the time required for that process they have governed Cuba wisely, regarding forms and respecting individual liberty; have honestly collected and expended for the best interests of the Cuban people the revenues, amounting to over $60,000,000; have carried out practical and thorough sanitary measures, greatly improving the health and lowering the death rate of the island. By patient, scientific research, they have ascertained the cause of yellow fever, and by good administration have put an end to that most dreadful disease, which has long destroyed the lives and hindered the commercial prosperity of the Cubans.

They have expedited justice and secured protection for the rights of the innocent, while they have cleansed the prisons and established sound discipline and healthful conditions for the banishment of the guilty.

Hospitals, Asylums and Schools.

They have re-established and renovated and put upon a substantial basis adequate hospitals and asylums for the care of the unfortunate. They have established a general system of free common schools throughout the island, by which over 200,000 children are in actual attendance.

They have constructed great and necessary public works. They have gradually trained the Cubans to themselves in all branches of administration, so that the new government, upon assuming power, has begun its work with an experienced force of Cuban civil service employes competent to execute its orders. They have borne themselves with dignity and self-control, so that nearly four years of military occupation have passed unmarred by injury or insult to man or woman.

They have transferred the government of Cuba to the Cuban people amid universal expressions of friendship and good will, and have left a record of ordered justice and liberty, of rapid improvement in material and moral conditions and progress in the art of government, which reflects great credit upon the people of the United States.

The president thanks the officers and enlisted men of the army of the Philippines, both regular and volunteers, for the courage and fortitude, the indomitable spirit and loyal devotion with which they have put down and ended the great insurrection that has existed throughout the archipelago against the laws, sovereignty and just authority of the United States. The task was peculiarly difficult and trying. Whereas in other islands some organized resistance of superior numbers, well equipped with modern arms of precision, intrenched in an unknown country of mountain defiles, jungle and swamps, apparently capable of interminable defense.

Guerillas Followed to Their Lair.

When this resistance had been overcome, they were required to crush out a general system of guerilla warfare conducted among a people speaking unknown tongues, from whom it was almost impossible to obtain the information necessary for successful pursuit or to guard against surprise and ambushes.

The enemies by whom they were surrounded were regardless of all obligations of good faith and of all the limitations which humanity has imposed upon civilized warfare. Bound themselves by the laws of war, our soldiers were called upon to meet every device of unscrupulous treachery and to contemplate without reprisal the infliction of barbarous cruelties upon their comrades and friendly natives. They were instructed, while punishing armed resistance, to conciliate the friendship of the peaceful, yet had to deal with a population among whom it was impossible to distinguish friend from foe, and who in countless instances used a false appearance of friendship for ambush and assassination.

They were obliged to deal with problems of communication and transportation in a country without roads, and frequently made impassable by torrential rains. They were weakened by tropical heat and tropical diseases. Widely scattered over a great archipelago, extending 1,000 miles from north to south, the gravest responsibilities, involving the life or death of their commands, frequently devolved upon young and inexperienced officers beyond the reach of specific orders or advice.

Under all these adverse circumstances, the army of the Philippines has accomplished its task rapidly and completely. In more than 2,000 combats, great and small, within three years, it has exhibited unvarying courage and confidence, profiting the lessons of the Indian wars. It has relentlessly followed the guerilla bands to their fastnesses in mountain and jungle and crushed them.

Friendly Natives Protected.

It has put an end to the vast system of intimidation and secret assassination by which the peaceful natives were prevented from taking a genuine part in government under American authority. It has captured or forced to surrender substantially all the leaders of the insurrection.

It has submitted to no discouragement and halted at no obstacle. Its officers have shown high qualities of command, and its men have shown devotion and discipline. Its splendid, virile energy has been accompanied by self-control, patience and magnanimity. With surprisingly few individual exceptions, its course has been characterized by humanity and kindness to the prisoner and the non-combatant.

With admirable good temper, sympathy and loyalty to American ideals its commanding general has joined with the civilian agents of the government in healing the wounds of war and assuring to the people of the Philippines the blessings of peace and prosperity. Individual liberty, protection of personal rights, civil order, public instruction and religious freedom have followed its footsteps. It has added honor to the flag which it defended, and has justified increased confidence in the future of the American people, whose soldiers do not shrink from labor or death, yet love liberty and peace.

The president feels that he expresses the sentiments of all the loyal people of the United States in doing honor to the whole army which has joined in the performance and shares in the credit of these honorable services.

The general order will be read aloud at the parade in every military post on the 4th day of July, 1902, or on the first day after it shall have been received.

ELIHU ROOT, Secretary of War.

WET WEATHER HAS ILL EFFECT ON ALL BUSINESS

Week's Review of Conditions Show That Whole Country Is Feeling It.

STRIKES BAD FOR STEEL

Fullest Production Impossible While Scarcity of Fuel Continues—Failures for the Half Year Are Greater Than in 1901.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 3.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Weather and crop conditions have been first in evidence this week, diverse influences affecting different sections to help or depress trade. Eastern cities note the check given by the weather to retail trade and the summer resort business.

The situation has not changed materially in industrial lines. Signs of the soft coal strike in Virginia and West Virginia failing increase, and a number of mines have resumed. The Kentucky and Illinois coal miners announce they will not strike and thus violate their contracts. In the Birmingham district the miners and operators have failed to agree and a suspension of work was inaugurated July 1. Building trade troubles are not so noticeable as previously. The glass shut-down has become universal, but this is the usual vacation suspension. A favorable development has been the voluntary granting of higher wages to 100,000 men in the iron and steel industry. The anthracite strike drags on, but a change is looked for next week. The soft coal miners and coal carrying roads are reaping a rich harvest.

Small supplies of coke operate against the fullest development of iron production. Between the high prices for material and the total absence of stocks inquiries and business in iron and steel suffer.

Trade in drygoods, boots and shoes and summer wear of all sorts is restricted. Raw wool is in quite active demand at the west and is firmer in tone at the east, where stocks are small and manufacturers in need of supplies. Lumber is rather quieter at the east, but stocks of all kinds are low and prices are firmer there and at the west. Builder's hardware is still active.

Reports to R. G. Dun & Co. show commercial failures for the half year 8,165 in number with $60,374,856 liabilities, against 5,739 insolvencies in the corresponding months of 1901 involving $75,894,899. Of this year's aggregate, 1,418 were in manufacturing for $24,649,020, 4,419 in trading for $23,145,622, and 337 in other commercial lines for $6,280,214; as compared with 1,265 in manufacturing last year for $23,-661,048, 4,189 in trading for $24,884,204, and 395 miscellaneous with liabilities of $9,-249,435. Defaults of banks and other fiduciary institutions numbered 34 with an indebtedness of $16,797,763, against 45 in the corresponding six months of 1901 involving $15,833,380.

DEMAND FOR COKE ADVANCES PRICES

Production Continues Heavy in the Connellsville Region, With Good Supply of Cars.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., July 3.—The Courier will say tomorrow:

Coke production in the Connellsville region was a few tons less than 250,000 tons last week. The ovens are being crowded for every ton of coke they will turn out. At present there in the region it requires eight or nine hours for a day's run. The railroads are still furnishing practically all the cars needed in the Connellsville district. The furnacemen and foundrymen are complaining almost constantly about their coke supply. Even now, with the coke production at the highest mark in its history, there is not enough coke from the Connellsville region to supply the demand. This is particularly true in the eastern and western markets. In the east, Connellsville coke comes second in demand to the Connellsville product, while West Virginia coke is used to the west when Connellsville is unobtainable.

Prices are unchanged on strike-free quotations. For spot delivery coke nothing is quoted under $3 for furnace now. Offers have been made during the past week at that price for 30 and 100 carload lots, but $3.25 and $3 was asked, however, and a very little coke going out of the region that is not being sold on contracts covering a period of six months and a year.

The detailed report of the operation and output of the Connellsville region for the week ending Saturday, June 28, shows a total estimated production of 249,104 tons. Compared with the preceding week, the previous week this was a decrease of 718 tons. In the active and idle lists of ovens there were several small changes. Of the 21,425 ovens in the region, 20,668 were active and 757 were idle. A six day's run was made throughout the region.

Shipments from the Connellsville region last week aggregated 12,432 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipples, 4,091 cars; to points east of Pittsburgh, 5,702 cars, to points west of Connellsville, 2,639 cars. This was an increase to all points except to the eastern markets, where there was a little slump owing to shortages of cars. The Pittsburgh and western shipments were considerably in excess of what they were the week previous. In the total, there was a gain of nearly 400 cars.

The average time made in the Lower Connellsville region last week was six days. The total number of ovens remains the same, 2,282, of which 2,006 were active and 266 were idle. The total estimated production was 26,718 tons, compared with 58,646 tons the previous week. Shipments were 985 cars, compared with 767 cars the week of June 21.

THE REBELS CAPTURE A VENEZUELAN ARMY

With It They Take an Important Town and Are Now Moving Upon Another.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PORT OF SPAIN, TRINIDAD, July 3.—After four days' fighting the town of Barquisimeto, in the state of Lara, Venezuela, has been captured by revolutionists under Gen. Luciano Mendoza.

The government troops were nearly all captured. One hundred of them, however, escaped in the direction of Trugillo. Four Venezuelan officers and Gen. Varela, the chief in command at Barquisimeto, escaped to the seaport of Tucacas.

Revolutionists, who are estimated to number 4,500 men, are now marching on Valencia, in the state of Carbobo, 40 miles away. Valencia probably will be attacked within ten days.

CHAUNCEY PIANOS

Yes, it naturally gratifies a parent to hear the children say they are delighted with the piano. Such evidence proves the value of selecting a GOOD instrument. Children soon learn to distinguish a meritorious instrument from one of indifferent quality. And when they grow up it will afford them pleasure to reflect that they learned on a piano that was worthy of them.

The Chauncey pianos are noted for two things in particular. These are their exquisite tone and their durability.

Another item of importance is that the price of the Chauncey is so moderate as to be within the reach of practically everybody.

KNOX MAY SAIL FOR PARIS, TOO, ON CANAL WORK

But First He Will Send His Assistant, C. H. Russell, on the Quest.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Will Complete Proceedings in French Court of Cassation to Acquire an Indisputable Title—Concessions From Colombia.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—The work incident to carrying out the provisions of the Spooner amendment to the Isthmian canal bill will be prosecuted with the utmost expedition consistent with the nature and magnitude of the interests involved.

Attorney General Knox has designated Charles H. Russell, an assistant to the attorney general, to go to Paris and make a critical and exhaustive examination of the records in the case. Mr. Russell is exceptionally well equipped for the task. Under the direction of Mr. Knox, Mr. Russell will apply to the French court of cassation to complete certain essential proceedings and will verify records and proceedings in the case of which the attorney general now has reputed transcripts.

The liquidation of the old canal company and the merger of its interests in the new one will require Mr. Russell's careful scrutiny. While it is thought that a perfect title to the Panama canal property can be secured, and any necessary concessions obtained from Colombia, the attorney general is unwilling to express himself on the subject further than to say that he is hopeful of success, but that everything will depend on the result of the inquiry to be instituted in Paris and the specific concessions which Colombia is willing to make.

It is possible that after the examination of the records in Paris shall have been completed, Mr. Knox himself may go to France for a personal review of the work before proceeding further with the negotiations.

It has been learned that the point over which Secretary Hay and Senators Spooner, Lodge and Hanna conferred yesterday was the compact between the French Panama Canal Company and the Colombian government that nothing but French material should be used in its construction. It is not expected that this will prove much of an obstacle in the negotiations. The treaty between this country and Colombia, of course, will be considered irrespective of any compact Colombia may have with the French company; but, on the other hand, the Colombia-French company compact may interfere with the title which Colombia will be able to offer the United States, especially if France should be inclined to insist that the provision for French material remain.

The task of determining the validity of the title will fall upon Attorney-General Knox.

Prof. John Morrow After Many Years Reaches Schenley Park

Twenty-six years prominently connected with education in Allegheny county, and nearly all of that time superintendent of the schools in the second largest city in the county, and never in Schenley park until yesterday.

Prof. John Morrow, superintendent of the Allegheny schools, visited Schenley park yesterday afternoon between showers. As he stood on the bridge looking into Panther hollow and then to the conservatory on the point, and then to the stand President Roosevelt is to occupy today, he said:

"It is a shame that I have never been here before. I will go over and take a look at the stand from which the president is to speak, but I really have not the time to go farther. I would not have been here today if it were not for some friends attending the educational meeting. I had to bring them out to see the Carnegie library and museum, and while they are looking around on the inside I am taking a look at the outside.

"Oh, yes, I have been in the library and the museum, but I never had time before to visit the park. Some day I will have to come out and see the conservatory that Henry Phipps has built. Why, I do not know Pittsburgh. If I get on a car I do not know where I am. Quite recently I was taken on a car to Swissvale. When I wanted to return a policeman told me I would have to go to Edgewood to get on the car. I did not know what he meant until he informed me that the street where I was standing was the dividing line between the two boroughs."

HILL MAKES SOME COUNTER-CHARGES

SCIENTIST GIVES A BAD REPUTATION TO G. T. CAVANAUGH.

Assailant of Expert Is Accused of Looting Wrecked Houses in Martinique. Praise for Newspaper Men and the Herald Service.

Prof. Robert T. Hill, chief of the United States geological survey, is very much incensed at the charges made against him by George T. Cavanaugh of Chicago. On his arrival in Pittsburgh yesterday morning, Prof Hill gave out an interview, in which he refuted the charges and made some rather damaging reflections on their author.

A story written by Cavanaugh depreciated the valuable researches made by Prof. Hill in Martinique and stated that he was a coward and ran away from his post when the second eruption of Mt. Pelee occurred, on the night of May 25.

In giving an adequate description of his travels with Cavanaugh Prof. Hill said: "On the morning of May 25 I started for Mt. Pelee from Fort De France. I had no one to accompany me, when this man Cavanaugh came up and asked me where I was going, and when I informed him, he told me he had the same objective point in view, and as he spoke English, I asked him to go along with me.

"We started on a road by which the natives declared we would never reach Mt. Pelee alive. They told us it was very dangerous, as no one but robbers lived along the route and was unfrequented except by those bandits. We were informed that by taking this route it would require at least three days' travel to reach the ill-fated city of St. Pierre.

Reached the Scene.

"However, with one colored servant and two horses we started on the trip, and at dusk on the night of the same day reached Fon St. Denis, which was three miles from St. Pierre.

"Before we reached this city Cavanaugh and I began to quarrel. I had found out what he was, and did not wish to have anything farther to do with him. He insisted on looting every house we came to, and when he was disappointed in not getting any booty, he would swear and curse at his luck.

"On our arrival at Fon St. Denis I told Cavanaugh I would not go one step further with him, and for him to take all the provisions, horses and go where he pleased, but he could not accompany me. He left me then and there, and I did not see him for days afterward.

"On this night he accuses me of having acted cowardly in running when the second great cloud burst over the island of Martinique and an eruption almost equal to the first from Mt. Pelee was on. When the second eruption occurred it was about 8 o'clock in the evening.

"I had just finished my dinner with some of the natives and had walked to the outskirts of the town to study the situation as thoroughly as possible.

"I had my camera with me and was making notes of the surroundings. I'll admit I was terrified when the eruption took place. I would have run in a minute had there been any place of safety near, but that was impossible and I knew it, so I did not make any attempt whatever to escape from the surroundings.

"I prepared for death then and there. I used my camera when it was possible to do so, and made all the notes I could. I thought sure I was a victim. I wanted to preserve my notes if possible and in order to do so, hid them under a jug which I found on the ground.

"After that night of terror I continued my journey and succeeded in getting within a mile and a half of the crater of Mt. Pelee, at an altitude of about 500 feet. Here I made all the study possible and then returned alone to Ft. De France.

Praise for Newspaper Men.

"The work of Cavanaugh in stating that I said I had a personal letter from President Roosevelt is dirty. It just shows what a man of his type would stoop to.

"It was the boast of every American on the Dixie that none of its members had taken any article of value that might be called loot. The newspaper men I met on the expedition, as a rule, were gentlemen and conducted themselves in a straightforward manner.

"This man Cavanaugh, who never was, is not, and never will be a newspaper man, conducted himself outrageously, and his disgraceful actions caused every self-respecting American at the scene of the disaster to blush for shame.

"While in Ft. De France I met and became well acquainted with Messrs. Smith, Henry and Morse of the New York Herald, and they were a source of valuable assistance to me. Their report of the disaster was as near correct as any that could possibly be obtained, and was authentic in every respect."

STORIES AT VARIANCE.

Independent Window Glass Company Says It Has Large Stock.

The two combines of window glass manufacturers tell different stories regarding the stocks of window glass, and one can take his choice.

The American Window Glass Company says that the Independent Glass Company has no stocks, but that the American company has 1,200,000 boxes on hand, and that an advance in the price of glass will be made at the coming conference with the jobbers. The Independent Glass Company, on the other hand, asserts that there is plenty of window glass on hand, more than sufficient to supply the trade; that the Independent company has a large share of the stocks on hand for sale, and the stories of a shortage are put out to befog the public.

SCIENTISTS CONCLUDE INTERESTING SESSIONS

Last Act Adoption of Complimentary Resolutions—George Westinghouse Honored.

The last official act of the 51st annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was the adoption of resolutions after the lecture of Prof. Robert T. Hill at Carnegie music hall last night. The substance of these resolutions is "that the local committee and the citizens of Pittsburgh generally have given to this association the most admirable facilities for an extremely successful meeting; that the arrangements for the comfort and pleasure of the association have been unexcelled at any previous meeting of the association; that by organization of the work the local committee has accomplished its results in such a way as to facilitate the scientific sections in the most perfect manner; that the hospitality of the citizens has been of a beautifully perfect and unobtrusive kind, indicative of the highest culture, and that the hearty thanks of the association are hereby extended to every resident of Pittsburgh connected with the admirable results which the local committee has achieved."

Special mention is made in these resolutions of the part the ladies have had in the entertainment of the association and the ladies who accompanied them.

The members of the association spent the afternoon taking in the sights and accepting their last chance to go on various excursions planned by the local committee. The big event of the afternoon was the excursion up the Monongahela river, which lasted from 1 o'clock until 7. About 500 persons went on this excursion.

More than 100 members of the chemical and engineering sections of the association attended a smoker given last night by the members of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania. Originally it was intended to give the smoker in some hall, but finally it was concluded that a steamboat ride would be more appropriate to the weather.

At the last general session of the association, yesterday morning, George Westinghouse was made an honorary fellow. Mr. Westinghouse is the first American to receive the degree since 1896, when it was conferred on Prof. Wolcott Gibbs of Newport, R. I.

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS AT THE TRACTION PARKS

Great Fourth of July Programs at Four of the Popular Trolley Resorts.

Those who wish other entertainment than that given at Schenley park can find it at the traction parks, where special programs have been provided. If the weather is favorable, it is expected that all Independence Day records at Kennywood, Calhoun, Oakwood and Southern parks will be broken.

At Kennywood, Phinney's Chicago band will give concerts, the evening entertainment concluding with a production of the musical war spectacle, "From Battlefield to Fireside." Kennywood will also be the scene of the annual reunion of the American Mechanics.

Calhoun park offers a distinct novelty—a balloon race between a man and a monkey. The man is Prof. Kinnade, who has trained a large baboon to ascend and cut himself loose with a parachute, several thousand feet above earth.

Oakwood park will also have a balloon ascensions, the aeronaut being Prof. Robinson. Helen May Butler's Ladies' band of Providence will give concerts and the Great Eastern Italian orchestra will play at the dancing pavilion for the dances, which will be free. The day will close with a fireworks display.

At Southern park the Chicago Newsboys' band at the music pavilion, the Homestead orchestra at the dancing pavilion and Lavelle's comedy and acrobatic dogs will be the entertainment features.

DEMOCRATS ARE TO CONVENE SATURDAY

Caucus of Delegates Last Night Made All Necessary Arrangements.

The Democratic county convention will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the common council chamber in city hall. This was decided upon at a caucus of the majority of the delegates last night. The entire program of the convention was agreed upon, and if there is no slip the entire fusion ticket will be indorsed.

The meeting was held in the Monongahela house. Of the 39 delegates to the convention 24 were on hand, and word was received from a dozen more that the action taken was satisfactory to them. George W. Guthrie and Col. James M. Guffey are delegates, but were not present.

The motion fixing the time and place for holding the convention was made by George S. Fleming. The caucus agreed that Mr. Fleming should be the temporary chairman of the convention and George W. Guthrie the permanent chairman. T. B. Alcorn, who was at the caucus, will be re-elected chairman of the county committee for the third term. Timothy O'Leary will be reading secretary and J. B. McNulty and John A. Bleichner will be recording secretaries of the convention. George S. Fleming and W. J. Brennen will be elected members of the state committee.

Charles B. Payne, secretary of the Democratic committee, will move for the appointment of a committee on resolutions. W. J. Brennen will present the names of the fusion county candidates for indorsement and Henry Meyer will second the nominations.

ALL THE FRIARS TO DEPART FROM THE PHILIPPINES

Pope Receives Final Conditions on Purchase of Church Lands.

TO ARBITRATE THE PRICE

Amount of Money to Be Paid for Property Is to Be Decided by a Board of Five Members—Contract Ready for Signatures.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rome, July 3.—William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippines, today received a long cable message from Secretary Root containing the department's final instructions concerning the disposition of the friars' lands in the islands, and this afternoon Maj. Porter delivered to Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, a note based on these instructions.

The pope read the original note, which was immediately manifolded for the benefit of the committee of cardinals having charge of the matter.

The note proposes the purchase of the lands of the Dominicans and Augustines at a price to be determined upon by five arbitrators, two to be chosen by the United States, two by the vatican and one by a neutral, say the British governor of India, the arbitrators to meet in Manila not later than January 1, 1903, examine witnesses and visit the land. The judgment of the majority to be accepted. The price to be paid in Mexican dollars, one-third immediately, a third in nine months and a third in 18 months, with interest at 4½ per cent. Payment to be made to a person chosen by the vatican.

Terms of Transfer.

The former Spanish crown lands now in the possession of the American government, on which there are ecclesiastical buildings, to be handed over to an ecclesiastical official appointed by the vatican. The ordinary courts to decide concerning the land retained by the church, but claimed by the municipalities.

It is hoped that when an apostolic delegate competent to represent the holy see is sent to the Philippines he will be able to decide which property used for charitable or educational institutions belongs to the churches and which to the state.

The United States to pay an indemnity for the buildings used by American troops. But nothing is to be paid until the title deeds are in the hands of the Philippine government.

All friars of the four orders shall withdraw within two years of the first payment. A small number are to continue during that time to look after the schools and universities, but all of them must go, half during nine months from the first payment and half 18 months later, not including friars who have not raised the hostility of the natives and who remained in their parishes after the revolution of 1898 till now, except those in Manila. No Spanish friars may be substituted for those withdrawn.

The churches, schools and universities may be directed by Spanish clergy or orders other than those withdrawn or by clergy of the same orders who are not Spanish. It is necessary to convince the Filipinos that the ancient regime of the Spanish friars is finished.

Anti-American Paper.

The note reminds the vatican that the orders still publish a paper in Manila which is anti-American and anti-Philippine, but pro-Spanish, and that the orders possess property in Manila to the value of nearly $6,000,000, Mexican, while the Catholic church is valued at only $3,500,000 Mexican. The orders also have a large capital at interest, which it is now proposed the government should purchase.

To reach the desired object the best thing is to prevent any member of the four withdrawing orders, without distinction of nationality, from being sent to the islands. Nothing will so calm the people and produce harmony between the church and the government as the certainty given in the contract that the friars shall leave at a fixed date, shall not return and shall not exercise any influence from Manila over the priests in the parishes. In view of these facts it is hoped that the vatican will accept the propositions.

The note ends with calling the attention of the vatican to the clause relating to religious teachings in the public schools, saying that Judge Taft's instructions prevent further discussion of the matter. It also calls the attention of Cardinal Rampolla to the 16th section of the general law for Philippine schools, a copy of which is enclosed.

The note is accompanied by the kind of contract which Judge Taft proposes will be signed.

FOOTNOTES NOT ACCEPTED.

Tin Plate Company Offers Only Compromise to Men.

The members of the wage scale committee of the Amalgamated association returned yesterday from New York. They said that while the conference regarding the "footnotes" with the officers of the American Tin Plate Company was harmonious, the combine refused to agree to the new footnotes. The failure to agree will not interfere with the running of the mills, under the continuous scale agreement. The footnotes will be referred back to the lodges for changes or emendations.

It will not take the lodges many days to vote on the compromise offered by representatives of the combine. If the lodges accept the compromise another conference between the wage committee and the combine's officers will be held.

SCIENTIST TOLD OF MT. PELEE'S AWFUL WRATH

Causes and Effects of Martinique Disaster Pictured by Investigator.

PROF. R. T. HILL'S TALK

As Fitting Climax to Deliberations of Leaders in Science the Geologist Gave Lecture on the Recent Volcanic Eruption.

As a fitting climax to the fifty-first annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of PROF. ROBERT T. HILL.

Science, Prof. Robert T. Hill, chief of the United States geological survey, who accompanied the Dixie expedition to Martinique last May as special commissioner for the National Geological society, delivered a lecture before the last general session in Carnegie music hall last night.

Prof. Hill illustrated his lecture with over 100 stereopticon views. He spoke for over an hour and a half, and his effort was a masterly one and appreciated greatly by his audience. Carnegie Music hall was crowded to the doors. The lecturer started out by giving a short synopsis of the organizing the expedition of the Dixie and said in part:

The rapid organization and departure of the Dixie expedition was described as being one of the most remarkable achievements of modern times, and a magnificent testimonial to the energy and benevolence of the American people.

A Great Expedition.

Organized in four brief days, it carried an equipment of food, clothing, medicine, shelter, sufficient to relieve every possible anticipated need, together with the most complete corps to distribute this relief, besides many of the ablest magazine writers and American journalists, to describe the phenomena, and scientific men from all over the country.

The alarming reports of the nature of the disaster circulated before the departure of the Dixie were reviewed and the anticipation of destruction and catastrophe was much greater than the conditions actually found.

The downward voyage of the Dixie was described with illustrations of the officers and people on board.

The volcanic caribees were described as ancient oceanic volcanoes, topped by fulcanic or solfatoric craters. Many pictures were shown of the various types of these islands. The general geography of Martinique was described with pictures of its wonderful rugged mountains and deep valleys called "fonds." Numerous illustrations were also given of its thrifty population, 270,000 in number.

The Devastated Island.

The geology of the island was also described at length, showing that Montagne Pelee was merely a simple volcanic cone that had been growing above the bottom of the sea since early tertiary time, and which was surmounted by a volcanic crater, which had existed in its present position since the island was first born. An excellent map of Montagne Pelee, copied from the French chart, 1823, was shown; the central summit crater; the bowl-shaped basin; the radiating steam; valleys cutting the circular mountain into numerous segments; the truncated coast, and the fatal segment, in which St. Pierre was located, which constituted the amphitheater of death.

The lately beautiful city of St. Pierre, as it was before the eruption, was described at length, especially its cliff-bound topography, which constituted an important point in relation to the causes of its destruction. Many views were shown of its red-roofed houses, its picturesque residences, built in the days of France's colonial prosperity. The running rivers filled with laughing laundresses; the busy wharves, the theaters, schools, hospitals, and other public buildings.

The Volcanic Eruption.

Then followed a description of the arrival at Fort de France, where Martinique, the most prosperous of all the islands, appeared as green and beautiful as if nothing had happened. From this point was an hour's journey along the picturesque and still unscathed coast to the city of St. Pierre, when, rounding a point, the panorama of death was exposed. The volcano was described at length, showing the summit crater with its clouds of smoke, and the lower vent upon its northside from which the fatal cloud shortly came that caused the destruction of the city. Numerous illustrations of rivers of mud were also shown, together with many pictures of the area of devastation and scenes of ruin within the doomed city.

The catastrophe itself was then discussed and Mr. Hill showed that the cloud that destroyed St. Pierre was only one of a series of events that had been taking place for a month or more with steadily increasing intensity. The phenomena of the fatal eruption was categorically enumerated, including the preliminary air movements and detonations, the density, weight, motion, direction of the final cloud, and the heat, steam, lack of incandescence, the flame and the lightning which accompanied it.

The death-dealing agencies, outgoing blast force, exhaustion of air, combustible explosions and the successive flows of mud and pumice which followed are all described.

Having described the details of the eruption, Mr. Hill proceeded to a discussion of the extent and phenomenon of the devastation and to discuss the cause of the destruction and to present the final lessons of Pelee.

Martinique, as a whole, has not contributed much to the previously existing knowledge of volcanism, but has given us many new and valuable hints that volcanic energy was caused by disturbances in the earthen magma itself, causing it to move toward the surface, rather than by water descending to it through fissures.

Soloists of Big Choir—Director McCollum announced the soloists for the big chair that will be a prominent part of the Christian Endeavor convention week. They are: Mrs. Carrie Angell Baker, soprano; Mrs. Emma Porter Makinson, soprano; and Miss Christine Miller, contralto. The final rehearsal will be held Monday night in Tent Endeavor. A procession of the juniors will be held next Thursday night. They will be escorted by the Boys' brigade under Maj. F. J. Kress.

His Wounds Proved Fatal—Charles Huston of Rodgers, O., who was injured on Monday in No. 1 tunnel of the Panhandle railroad, in this city, died at the West Penn hospital yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, of his injuries. He was a lineman and was stringing a cable in the tunnel. The ladder was set up on the eastbound track. The noise of a train approaching on the westbound track prevented him from hearing the train coming on the other track and he was knocked under the wheels. He was 24 years old.

Motherless Twins' Sad Plight—Mrs. Elsie Morgus died yesterday afternoon at the Allegheny city home. By her side were two sick babes, twins, less than a year old. The officials of the institution think they will not recover. The woman's husband, George Morgus, deserted her about 11 months ago, while they were living at No. 1113 Sawmill alley. A week later she gave birth to these children. She was without funds and medical attention. The neighbors aided her for a time and later she was cared for by the charity authorities.

Fire Company Gets Flag—A large silk flag was last evening presented to the members of No. 25 Engine company by admirers in the Fifteenth ward. The presentation took place at the engine house at the forks of the road. The Rev. A. E. Linn, pastor of the Thirty-ninth Street Presbyterian church, made the presentation remarks and they were of praise for the firemen. George W. Gardner, a former member of No. 25, but now a member of No. 27 Engine company, responded to Mr. Linn and accepted the flag for the firemen. The flag is eight by twelve feet and will be unfurled to the breezes the first time today.

Pure Food Agents Active—F. M. Powell and E. D. Miller, state pure food agents, have entered suits before Alderman Groezinger against P. Regan, No. 195 Brighton road, Allegheny; H. McDermott, No. 228 Fifth avenue, McKeesport; John G. Dollman, Allegheny market, and George Harper, No. 515 East Robinson street, charging them with violating the state pure food law of 1895. Regan and Harper are accused of manufacturing and selling vanilla extract containing injurious coloring matter and impure adulterations. McDermott and Dollman are charged with using sulphuric acid and unhealthy sulphites in the preparing of chopped meat for sale. All have given bail for court.

BABY'S CRIES AWAKENED HIM.

George Rigler Then Discovered Thief. Robber Was Caught.

Clarence Brown, 17 years old, was arrested early yesterday morning in Jones avenue by Officer J. F. Beal on a charge of robbery. It is alleged that he entered the house of George Rigler shortly after 3 o'clock and stole two checks and some money amounting to $60. Rigler's baby heard sounds in the house and aroused her father, who, upon investigating, discovered that his pocketbook had been taken from his coat.

He notified the police immediately, and Lieut. Harry C. Myers went to the house. He discovered that the robber who had entered the house was barefooted at the time. He had walked through the mud and then on the porch. The houses in the immediate vicinity were searched and at 5 o'clock the officer discovered Brown watching him from around the corner. He placed him under arrest. At the station house the checks and money were found on him.

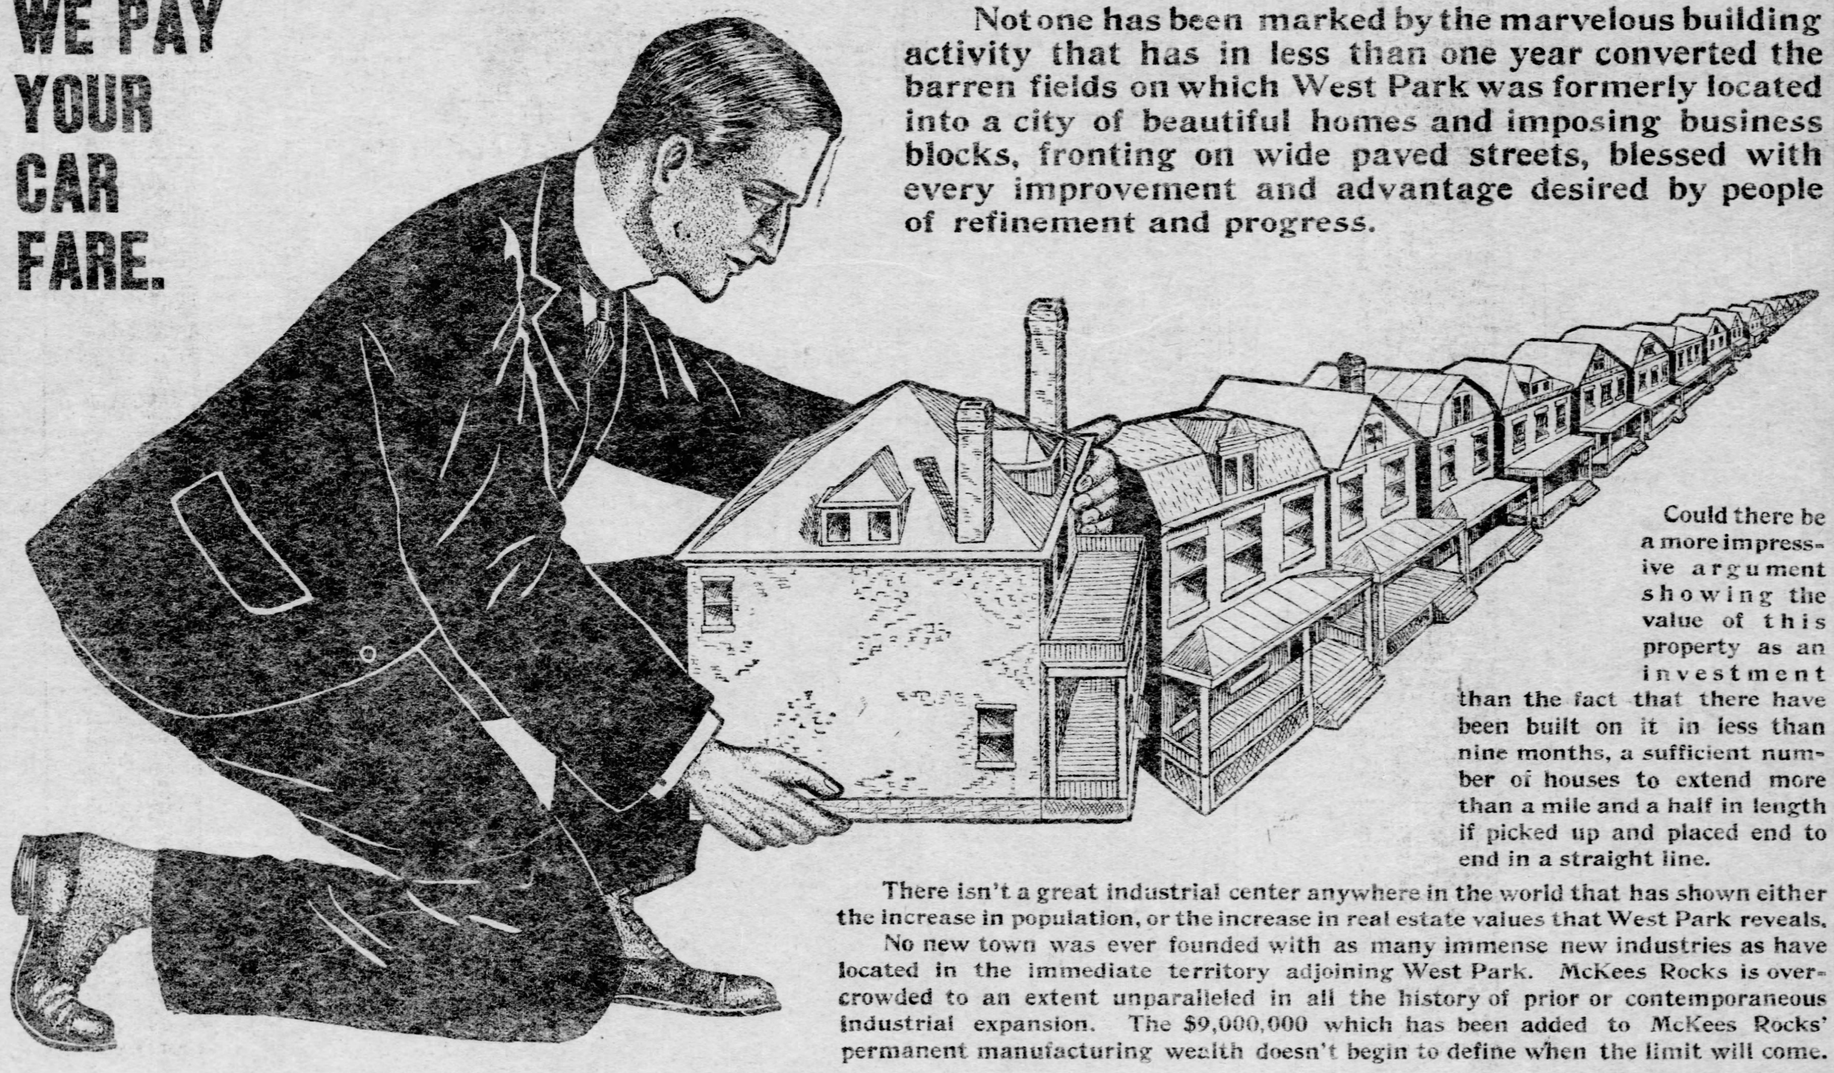
FAMOUS SUCCESS OF WEST PARK LOTS!

WE PAY YOUR CAR FARE.



Not one has been marked by the marvelous building activity that has in less than one year converted the barren fields on which West Park was formerly located into a city of beautiful homes and imposing business blocks, fronting on wide paved streets, blessed with every improvement and advantage desired by people of refinement and progress.

Could there be a more impressive argument showing the value of this property as an investment than the fact that there have been built on it in less than nine months, a sufficient number of houses to extend more than a mile and a half in length if picked up and placed end to end in a straight line.

There isn't a great industrial center anywhere in the world that has shown either the increase in population, or the increase in real estate values that West Park reveals.

No new town was ever founded with as many immense new industries as have located in the immediate territory adjoining West Park. McKees Rocks is overcrowded to an extent unparalleled in all the history of prior or contemporaneous industrial expansion. The $9,000,000 which has been added to McKees Rocks' permanent manufacturing wealth doesn't begin to define when the limit will come.

The great army of P. & L. E Railroad men who have not yet purchased home sites in West Park will do well to read the signs which point to this marvelous opportunity before it is too late. There is no place like West Park for railroaders. The property is within the P. & L. E. CALLING LIMITS, and is the only location having real home comforts, so close to their work and the dispatcher's office. Pan Handle railroad men will also see the advantage of getting a piece of WEST PARK property while the present price list is in effect, as the plan will also be within the new Pan Handle Calling Limits.

Properties next to West Park that could have been bought five years ago at $40 to $50 per foot have been sold recently at $200 to $355 a foot—the nearest approach in the way of ascension of realty values to Pittsburgh's very choicest downtown realty that has yet been approached.

But one does not need to go outside of West Park itself for a comparison endorsing the desirability of West Park property. The lots that were sold in the first and second plans of this property have increased in value since the first lot was sold from 28 to 140 per cent.

TAKE CARS FOR WEST PARK FOOT OF FIFTH AVENUE.

Cars marked West Park run to and over the Property, start in the city from the foot of Fifth avenue. You can get aboard on Fifth avenue, Liberty street, Fifth street, Penn avenue, Point Bridge, West Carson street or in McKees Rocks on Chartiers avenue.

Or you can take the regular Chartiers avenue, Island avenue or Coraopolis cars and get transfer.

All cars leave at same terminus, Market street and Fifth avenue.

It is a good thing to remember also that you can buy lots at

$50 to $500

in the new West Park plan by paying down any reasonable amount of money. The balance will be accepted in monthly payments of $5 per month up.

NO INTEREST, AND TAXES FREE UNTIL DELIVERY OF DEED.

When cash is paid any time within 60 days from date of purchase a discount of 10 per cent will be allowed.

FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1902.

TWELVE PAGES

The President.

Pittsburgh welcomes with hearty enthusiasm the chief magistrate of the nation, who will become the city's guest this morning. President Roosevelt has within the very brief period of his occupancy of the presidential office won universal respect as an executive. Called to the important office under the most distressing circumstances, regarded by many thoughtful people as too young and inexperienced for the performance of duties so exalted in character and so grave in import, he has within a comparatively brief time dispelled every doubt as to his fitness for the place and has displayed a quality of statesmanship that places him in the front rank of the world's rulers. He is a man of fresh, vigorous ideals, young enough to be inspired by enthusiasm in his work, yet serious minded enough to grasp with dignity and gravity the full import of the responsibilities that rest upon him in the position to which he was providentially called. He is an orator of commanding force and throughout his public life has displayed a rare tact for saying the right thing in a thoroughly frank and open-hearted way. His address today will be heard with deep interest, coming as it does upon the heels of national events of far-reaching importance.

In all his contact with our people, publicly and socially, the president is assured of a cordial and thoroughly American welcome, both for the man, Theodore Roosevelt, and the chief executive, representing the honor and dignity of the American commonwealth.

Pursuing the Bailey Folly.

Some of Senator Bailey's friends have been talking about having Judge Penfield disciplined, or even discharged from his position, for talking back to the Texan. They appear to be going on the assumption that because army officers are not allowed to counter the assaults of mouthy legislators, employes in other government departments must also keep silent. As a matter of fact, there is nothing for which the solicitor of the state department needs to be disciplined. He might better have treated the Bailey attack with silent contempt, but if he can stand the shock to his self-respect incident to entering into a controversy with the Texas fire-eater there is no reason why the state department should interfere.

A charitable view of Bailey and his obstreperous conduct is to take him at his word that he did not know what he was talking about. He was simply overcome by the influences of a warm day in the capitol. To be sure, his manifestation of physical violence was sufficient provocation for suspension from the privileges of the floor, if not for a straitjacket, but what he said need not be taken seriously. His saying it did not make it true.

Their Journey Has Begun.

The European tour of school teachers of Western Pennsylvania, as guests of The Pittsburgh Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph, has begun. The victors in the recent contest, who have been looking forward with happy anticipation to the pleasures of the tour, left Pittsburgh last night, and early tomorrow morning the good ship Minnehaha will carry them out of New York harbor into the broad Atlantic ocean.

The 25 fortunate ones who are enabled thus to enjoy a splendid vacation will find all the details of an extended tour arranged for them. They will be relieved of the usual annoyances of travel and offer necessity for making the ordinary arrangements that usually fall to the lot of excursionists. It is a most captivating itinerary that has been arranged for them. Crowded full of interesting sights, it yet affords enough time to form intelligent opinions of the places visited, and to corroborate or correct previous impressions of the countries through which they will travel and the places in which they will go sightseeing.

The relatives and friends of the travelers will hear from them frequently, and will watch their journeyings with deep interest, hoping for them good health and pleasant weather, being all that they now need to make the tour a perfect success.

Taxation of Corporations.

At the meeting of councils committee on corporations on Wednesday an ordinance granting the Duquesne Street Railway Company the right to lay tracks in Grant street, Seventh avenue, Liberty avenue and to connect itself with the Consolidated and United lines in Grant and Smithfield streets at intersecting streets was referred to the sub-committee having in charge the taxing of public service corporations.

This was a proper reference and the ordinance should not be reported back to councils with an affirmative recommendation until the management of the traction lines has agreed to another ordinance levying an equitable tax on the gross receipts of the traction lines. The traction companies embraced in the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the branch of the Philadelphia Company operating the traction lines of Pittsburgh and vicinity, are, as has been frequently pointed out, in the enjoyment of valuable franchises for which no return has been made to the city, and which are virtually untaxed for municipal purposes. The companies enjoy the protection for which others pay and should consent without compulsion to an assessment of their fair share of the public burden. Councils cannot win this consent by granting them fresh privileges for nothing, and we are glad to note the recognition of this fact that appears in the reference to the committee having in charge the question of taxing public corporations of the ordinance in which important new privileges are asked. This ordinance gives opportunity for a general settlement of the problem of taxing corporations using the public highways and establishing the principle of making them pay a rental to the city for what has been given them.

A Mild Concession.

It is necessary to give credit to the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the abatement of night fares on Saturday morning. It is a graceful concession in as far as it goes. It does not go far enough to offset the abolition of transfers during the day. The greatest sufferers from that order will be workingmen who go to Schenley park with their wives and children—men who will not be out late enough to benefit from the after-midnight concession. The excuse offered for that imposition does not excuse it. It would have been a simple matter to have special slips printed for the Fourth, one series good during the morning, another during the afternoon, for the transfer privilege would not be abused by hurrying crowds.

Republican Sentiment Positive.

There is nothing uncertain in the tone of the platform adopted by the Minnesota Republican convention. It supports President Roosevelt unequivocally in his attitude toward Cuban reciprocity and indorses him for renomination in 1904. It is significant that every Republican state convention held since the Cuban controversy began has declared emphatically for reciprocity and condemned the stand of the arrogant minority which prevented the bill coming to a vote. When congress meets again in November the matter will be before the senate in the form of a treaty and there is little reason to doubt its prompt ratification. There is certainly no reason in the opposition.

Very Strenuous Denial.

Prof. Hill of the geological survey counters upon Cavanaugh in savage fashion for the latter's attack upon him. No doubt the professor has the better end of the argument, since his story agrees in the main with the information sent from Fort de France at the time by The Gazette and New York Herald correspondents. But even so, he need not have entered such a strenuous defense. The public had not been giving any great amount of attention to Cavanaugh's stories, the photographs and reports brought home by Prof. Hill being sufficient evidence that he did the work he went to do and faced the perils of the situation with sufficient fortitude.

The Filipino War Is Over.

Well, the war which was to last for several generations is over. The alarmists who told us that the United States would not be able to bring about peace in the Philippine islands within the lifetime of ourselves and our children and our grandchildren, are proved to be poor prophets. It has been apparent for some time that hostilities worthy the name of war have long since ceased. The occasional forays of a few bands of brigands do not constitute war. They may occur at any time, but they are not likely to be repeated with frequency, with United States soldiers at the call of the civil authorities.

The Fourth of July, of this year 1902, is an auspicious day for the Filipinos. By the proclamation announcing the termination of hostilities and declaring amnesty for political offenders, the president of the United States informs the Filipinos that peace is restored, and that they are to be protected in their lives, liberty and pursuit of happiness. By pardoning insurgents notice is served that their power is no longer feared. By superseding the military authority by the civil, this government gives a guarantee of its intention to grant to the natives as large a measure of self-government as possible, and to extend it as rapidly as they show themselves worthy of authority and capable of exercising it.

Great praise is due to the American army, which has wrought so great a work as the pacification of the Philippine islands in so short a time. This praise is not only the right of the officers, but also of the men. The splendid determination of the American soldiery has wiped out the Filipino rebellion. The insurgents early came to know that American troops never gave up their object. They might be repulsed and their lines might be broken, but the enemy learned by experience that the lines would be reformed, and that the troops would press on. The spirit of initiative in the American private which impels him to think for himself, to act for himself, and at the same time to obey intelligently, promptly and implicitly the commands of his officers, is what makes the United States army so effective an organization.

The Day We Celebrate.

There are no grounds for the fear sometimes expressed that the Fourth of July will cease to be appropriately observed. The tendency to make the annual observance of the nation's birthday a big festival, in which amusement and relaxation are the chief considerations, is one of the natural results of the modern strenuous life. The use of the day as a holiday could hardly be expected to yield other result than that people should take advantage of the occasion to make merry after their own tastes. As an object lesson the day is still susceptible of large usefulness in the inculcation of the principles of true Americanism and patriotism. The reading of the Declaration of Independence and patriotic oratory continue to be the central features of all formal observances of the day. These simple methods might be more largely encouraged, and the inclusion of the children in most of the celebrations, another feature of modern Fourth of July festivities, should be arranged for whenever possible.

The sturdy spirit of Americanism that has been the chief characteristic of the descendants of the revolutionary fathers is still a potent factor in shaping public action and private thinking in this country. The sweeping changes that have been wrought in the century and a quarter of our national existence, the vast progress that has lifted us from obscurity to world-wide eminence, may have more than once tested to the farthest limit that system of government so wisely and providentially founded by the fathers, but they have never seriously broken its power or impaired its marvelous adaptability to the needs of a free and enlightened people. The outlook is hopeful. While perplexing problems of state may loom large in the future and internal unrest may here and there strike a discord in the national progress, the confidence of the American people in the stability of their government is unshaken. Their faith in the final triumph of the principles of free government in all those lands where the American flag has been unfurled is a part of their national and political life.

These facts serve to give meaning to the festivities of today wherever Americans gather to celebrate. The mere variation in the character of the celebrations cannot destroy their force or permanently obscure their glory. They will be given especial emphasis in Pittsburgh, where the head of the nation, himself a strong, vigorous representative of that sturdy Americanism that has figured so splendidly in every epoch of our past history, will address the people.

From Pittsburgh as a center today the influences of genuine American patriotism will penetrate to every section of the country and across the seas, where the representatives of the nation have so lately planted the seeds of the better civilization, carrying new courage for the future and new faith in the principles of government for which the day stands.

A few burns more or less, and a few fingers lost in the excitement, will not deter young America from celebrating the Fourth of July in the good old way.

If Senator Bailey is still spoiling for a fight he might call up the state department by telephone and ask the office hours of a certain Judge Penfield.

George Washington is first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen; but Independence Day is second, third and Fourth.

The English arctic explorer, De Windt, long time lost, has been picked up, but so far no news has arrived as to Pat Crowe's whereabouts.

Industrially Pittsburgh is supreme. Patriotically she is going to prove to the nation today that industry is not her only specialty.

The fact that there were 13 states in the original union should lead America to adopt 13 as its lucky number.

England is America's friend, but Englishmen won't spend today reading the Declaration of Independence.

Liberty's children in Hawaii and Porto Rico are catching the step admirably considering their youth.

Pittsburgh extends a hearty greeting to her visiting neighbors and bids them feel perfectly at home.

The Filipinos may join in the chorus today when we get to the "Land of the Free" line.

Accidents will happen on the best regulated Fourth of July.

Wouldn't this be a fine time to take Pittsburgh's census?

Pittsburgh is the capital of the United States today.

This is Pittsburgh's red, white and blue letter day.

All roads now lead to Schenley Park.

Boom! Fizz!! Bang!!!

New Era Is Insistent.

From the New York Sun.

Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania, who was a member of congress 50 years ago and later speaker of the house of representatives of the civil war congress, was today forced to leave the hotel that has been his home in Washington for over half a century. The hotel in question is the old Willard, a famous hostelry, now called the Fairfax to distinguish it from the New Willard, and which will soon be torn down to make room for an addition to the latter structure. Mr. Grow was visibly affected as he passed for the last time through the doorway of the old hotel which has been his Washington home for so long. A room on the same floor and in the same location as his old room, when the new structure is completed, has been promised Mr. Grow.

GOTHAM IS READY FOR THE RACKET

Traffic in Noise-Making Apparatus Never Exceeded. The Holiday Spirit.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 3.

It was like a Saturday afternoon in New York today. Business had all been cleaned up so that nothing would go wrong in the three days that would elapse before the city puts on its overalls and apron again. Satisfaction is felt over the coming of the Fourth on Friday. There is nothing unlucky in that day for a lay-off, in the opinion of the ordinary New Yorker, and most of them would like the holiday to come on that day of the week regularly. Nearly all the big business houses expect to rest from tonight until Monday morning. Many of them will make a pretense of running, but the managers know that it will be little more than a pretense, because their customers will be holiday making, and their employes "won't feel like working." So, what's the use? Then, the exchanges will all be closed on Saturday, and there will be nothing doing in the financial district. It is true that many of the industrial establishments will try to do something, but several of them have made a virtue of necessity and will not open until Monday. Saturday is only half a day, anyhow, and it seems hardly worth while to set machinery going for a few hours in the forenoon. This evening the theaters that are open did a great business. The holiday spirit was abroad, and the thousands of clerks, artisans and business men who are relieved from the daily grind for three days made up their minds to start in betimes. Dealers in fireworks say that they never had a larger Fourth of July trade than this year, and it is expected there will be a greater banging and popping tomorrow than that respectable person, the "oldest inhabitant," can remember. So long as fireworks are discharged in the street with due decorum, the police will not interfere; but there must not be any pyrotechnics in back yards, under penalty of the law. That is the way the police regulations read; but unless tomorrow is totally unlike any other Fourth in this city, there will be fireworks everywhere, and the small boy in Harlem, as well as in fashionable neighborhoods, will blaze away in his back yard, just as the spirit moves him.

The New Green Tie.

Clubmen here have taken very kindly to the grass-green necktie. It makes a fine-looking four-in-hand, much better than the flaring red affair which it has displaced. It is said that Craig Wadsworth was one of the first swell New Yorkers to venture forth with the green tie. The other men of his set thought it rather fasty, and now they all have them.

Bohemianism at the Clubs.

According to an authority here, the latest fad at the smart clubs is to take your cocktail or high ball at the bar. At one time it was considered necessary to ring for a waiter and order your drinks brought to you; but now the average New Yorker is in such a hurry that he goes direct to the bar, which is a small but well-arranged sanctum tucked away in a corner of the club house. At the Manhattan, in the days of its occupancy of the old Stewart mansion, oysters were always eaten from the counter downstairs. The tendency toward what is understood to be Bohemianism is nowhere more in evidence than at the swell clubs of this great city.

The Vanderbilts in Clubland.

Reginald Vanderbilt will be made a member of the Metropolitan club. This is the club to which his brother Alfred belongs and of which he became a member just before his father's death. The late Cornelius Vanderbilt took much interest in the Metropolitan and Willie K. Vanderbilt has lived there off and on. Alfred Vanderbilt was proposed by one of the Iselins. He has since joined the Knickerbocker, where Ernest Iselin either proposed or seconded him. He goes very little to clubs, and is the least seen of any of his family at them. Every one of the Vanderbilt family, except young William K., belongs to the Metropolitan, and the young men, when they reach their majority, are promptly put up, seconded and go through with celerity. Why should they not? The Vanderbilt name is one to conjure with nowadays, in clubland as well as in Wall street.

A Great Bicycle Meet.

More than 200 riders, the greatest number booked for a cycle meet in many years, are entered for the races of the Metropole Cycle club at Manhattan beach on Saturday. One hundred and sixty are amateurs, including Champion Hurley.

Episcopal Sisters and Their Charges.

Stuyvesant park, over on the East Side, is one of the oldest breathing spots in this city. A pretty sight may be seen there at quiet hours in the week, when the Sisters of St. John the Baptist, an Episcopal order, in a uniform as severe and similar as that worn by the like sisterhoods in the Roman church, are exercising with their pupils. The sisters are teachers in a church school in the neighborhood, and bring their pupils to enjoy this little green spot. While the girls are playing the sisters walk up and down soberly, and apparently with thoughts as far from the outside world as if they were shut within convent walls, without any thought of the great world seething just beyond the railings of the park.

The New Traction Peril.

The burning of four cars on the Third avenue elevated railway the other day, through the deadly "third rail," is still a topic of apprehensive gossip here. Since the Third avenue "L" fire there have been at least two trolley cars—one in Brooklyn and one in Manhattan—burned in the same way. The "short circuit" did it in each case. A New York morning paper editorially indorses the suggestion of George Westinghouse that it would be well to make cars of metal, instead of wood, so that they would be incombustible. The electrical expert whom I quoted in The Gazette on Tuesday morning says that if he had his choice he would rather be in a wooden than in a metal car when a "short circuit" fire occurs. In a wooden car there might be some chance of getting out, but in a car of metal, a splendid conductor of the electric current, death would be certain. Experts differ, and in the meantime the public of New York would like to be sure that the danger of being roasted to death in the subway, so nearly completed, will be reduced to a minimum.

A Midsummer Theatrical Opening.

There was a theatrical opening in New York tonight. This is unusual enough at this particular time of year to be worth special mention. It was at the Herald Square, and the play was the new musical comedy, "The Defender," brought all the way from Boston to make a Knickerbocker holiday. There was a very large attendance, and the applause was as incessant as it is always on a first night in this city, so the production must be set down as a success.

Gotham Looking for the Teachers.

One of the handsome spectacles for enjoyment by New Yorkers tomorrow will be afforded by Pittsburgh. It will be the bevy of bright young school teachers who are to sail on Saturday morning for Europe as the guests of The Gazette. They will spend the Fourth of July in this city. The New York office of The Gazette, in the Herald building, Herald square, has been polished up with extra care, and the whole force of The Gazette news bureau here will be lined up in their best bibs and tuckers, to receive with fitting welcome the fair Pittsburghers, who are expected to honor the office with a visit.

A Popular Sea Serpent.

New York is proud of its new sea serpent, and there is a steady stream of visitors to the aquarium in Battery park to look at it. L. B. Spencer, who is in charge of the aquarium, is not quite satisfied as to the genus of the creature, although most persons are content to call it a sea serpent and let it go at that. Mr. Spencer says it is a genus by itself and the only species of the genus, Channomuraena vittata is its scientific name, from Muraena, the Latin name for Moray, and Chaino, the Greek verb to yawn, which is a characteristic of this fish. Vittata is Latin for striped. According to bulletin 47 of the Smithsonian institution, the first record of its existence dates back to 1789, when it was discovered in Cuban waters. Again, in 1844, Richardson, a prominent English ichthyologist, found another in the same vicinity. In 1867 Poey, also a famous ichthyologist, discovered the third member of the species that has been recorded, to which he gave the name Channomuraena Cubensis, in honor of the island of Cuba. Prof. Gunther in 1870 discovered the fourth, to which he gave the name Gymnomuraena vittata. No other specimen of the genus has been found since, and consequently the individual at the aquarium has the honor of being the fifth in his kind to contribute to ichthyological research. Shorn of scientific verbiage the best description of this new monster is that it is a large eel seven feet long, inexpressibly ugly and not very good-tempered. It is on exhibition in the aquarium every day.

Catholic Benevolent Legion.

The New York state councils of the Catholic Benevolent Legion will hold a convention in this city at Terrace garden Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

No More Starch From Glen Cove.

The closing of the starch works at Glen Cove, Long Island, will cause distress for many of the employes. It is understood the closing will be permanent, although the company does not admit it. Work has practically ceased in all departments. No more does the whistle sound to call the men to their work or to announce the time for quitting. The belting has been removed, the machinery given a coating of tallow to prevent rust, the windows are being boarded up, the buoy in the harbor, where the company's vessels were moored, has been removed, and all indications point to a prolonged if not permanent shutdown. Many Polish laborers employed in the factory have already moved away, but the skilled mechanics are finding work about the village.

An Unlocked-for Distinction.

Talking about Mme. Teresa Carreno, who has just taken to herself a fourth husband, an old New Yorker said tonight: "Those of us who can recollect the slim, black-haired little girl of nine who seemed all black eyes, that stole out from the wings upon the stage of the Brooklyn academy one night in early 1853, and how we stood up on our hind legs and cheered like maniacs when she had finished her solo on the piano, to the unalloyed delight of her master, the great Gottschalk, whose head protruded a yard from the wings, decorated with a huge and expansive grin, predicted her great career—but not the distinction of four husbands."

Getting Ideas for the White House.

Photographs were taken yesterday of the interior and exterior of City hall by a firm of architects which has the contract for altering and repairing the White House at Washington. It is the desire to embody several of the architectural features of the New York City hall in the changes. Many architects consider the City hall as nearly architecturally perfect as any building in the United States.

Mr. Richardson has had a large experience in the newspaper business and he brings highly trained capacity to the service of this solidly established and highly esteemed paper.

"Senator Bailey of Texas has received little sympathy in connection with the attack he made of Senator Beveridge of Indiana. The members of congress hold that Senator Bailey was in the wrong," said Congressman Charles A. Burke of Pierre, S. D., last night at the Union station. "The attack of Bailey was nothing more than the result of a display of bad temper on his part, and he was dead wrong in giving way to his feelings in that manner."

The passengers traveling on the limited last night reported a number of washouts between New York and Pittsburgh as a result of the heavy rains of Wednesday night. The washouts, however, did not do any damage and the trains were not delayed.

Small Boy in the Ascendancy.

From the New York Tribune.

The small boy with his firecracker is now a constant source of alarm and a menace to the insurance companies, to policemen and firemen, to nervous and excitable horses, to peaceful citizens generally. But the small boy himself is as intrepid as Casabianca. He is ready to stand upon a burning deck anywhere and at any time, and would never hesitate to set the deck burning on his own account. But after the Fourth he will disappear.

Prince Henry a Composer.

From the Philadelphia North American.

Prince Henry of Prussia, whose march through the United States in such quick time will be remembered, has appeared as a composer. A march by him in ordinary time, called "The Parade March of the Marine Division," has been just published in Leipzig.

A JAIL BREAKER EASILY TRAILED

Found Eating His Breakfast in the House of His Prison Sweetheart.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 3.—A fugitive from the county jail at Mays Landing was recaptured here today in the house of a young woman with whom he became acquainted in prison. George Mitchell is the name the prisoner gives, but as a Washington and Jefferson button was found on him it is suspected the name was assumed and that his home is in Pittsburgh or some adjacent town.

Mitchell was serving a four-months' term in jail, and as he behaved well he was allowed considerable liberty. This morning his cell was discovered to be empty, and further investigation revealed that Mitchell had stolen the sheriff's horse. A search party found the horse tied up at Pleasantville, and came on to this city, finding Mitchell eating breakfast at the home of Lillie Kraft, the woman with whom he is infatuated. He was taken into custody, and this afternoon was arraigned before Justice De Hart, charged with the larceny of a pocketbook, breaking jail and horse stealing. Mitchell was held for court on the charges and remanded to Mays Landing.

Cloud and sunshine alternated here today, and showers are predicted for the Fourth, but everybody is preparing for a rousing celebration of the holiday. A long program has been arranged, including yacht races, a naval parade, baseball games, bicycle races, special attractions on the piers, a flag unfurling and fireworks. Some of the stores will be closed in honor of the day.

A severe electric and rain storm struck Atlantic City this morning, continuing about an hour. In that time the fall was almost one inch. Many streets were submerged, especially between Atlantic and Pacific avenues. Rubber boots were brought into requisition by men and women, young and old. In some places on the streets the water was fully a foot deep, and for squares on the sidewalks and the south side of Atlantic avenue. Lightning struck at several places on the boardwalk, causing considerable excitement, but the damage was slight. The street lighting system was disabled for a time, but interior lights were not affected. Telegraph and telephone systems also were crippled.

The passenger traffic to Atlantic City today was much in excess of the records of July 3, 1901, up to 9 o'clock tonight 142 carloads of passengers having been brought in over the Reading and 153 over the Pennsylvania railroad, with another train of 10 cars coming.

A report is afloat tonight that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of several well-known Pittsburgh men, charging them with running a gambling resort in South Atlantic City.

Late arrivals at the hotels include the following from Pittsburgh and vicinity:

Bleak House—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heilig, Mrs. A. J. Cummings and children, Pittsburgh.

Haddon Hall—F. C. Sutter and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gallagher, Mrs. Diffenbacker, Pittsburgh; Miss Drew, Portsmouth, O.

SCIENCE AT CHAUTAUQUA.

How the World Gets Its Supplies of Force from the Generous Sun.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 3.—(Special.)—While Pittsburgh has been enjoying the great convention of the world's leaders in scientific research, Chautauqua has had a little scientific symposium of her own. Dr. James H. Montgomery, vice president of Allegheny college and professor of physics and astronomy, gave a lecture on "Our Father, the Sun," on lines which a popular audience could understand, illustrated by many unusually fine views, a large number of which were the results of his own labor.

The lectures treated especially our dependence on the sun and what we owe to him directly and indirectly. He showed that every mechanical action on the earth's surface, every manifestation of power, organic or inorganic, vital and physical, is produced by the sun. His warmth keeps the sea liquid and the atmosphere a gas, and all the storms which agitate both are blown by the mechanical forces of the sun. Every fire that burns, every flame that glows dispenses light and heat which originally belonged to the sun. He builds the forest and hews it down, the power which raises the tree and wields the ax being the same, and remember, this is not poetry, but rigid, mechanical truth.

A most surprising illustration of the sun's heat was drawn from the melting of the ice in the lake. Lake Chautauqua is about 20 miles long and averages one mile wide, and ice forms over 18 inches thick every winter. The heat required to melt this ice is sufficient to melt the steel rails on 150,000 miles of modern, high-grade railroad or a railroad six times around the earth at the equator; and every city lot, 50x100 feet, receives daily enough heat to furnish 200 horsepower.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. Mary Morrison MacCorkle.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., July 3.—(Special.)—The death of Mrs. Mary Morrison MacCorkle, mother of ex-Gov. William A. MacCorkle of this state, occurred at her home this morning after a brief illness. She was a native of Rock Bridge county, Virginia. Three children survive her, ex-Gov. MacCorkle, A. D. MacCorkle and Miss May MacCorkle, all of this city.

Miss Rachel J. Douds.

CANONSBURG, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—Miss Rachel J. Douds died today, aged about 65. For many years she was the librarian of the Canonsburg library. She is survived by two brothers and a sister, R. F. Douds of Canonsburg, J. G. Douds of Olean, N. Y., and Miss Margaret Douds of Canonsburg.

John Scarlett.

ERIE, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—John Scarlett, 54 years of age, proprietor of the New York Tea Company of Erie, died last night at Germantown, Pa. He had recently gone east for his health. He leaves seven sons, four of whom are in business here, and one is a doctor at Germantown.

W. B. Brooks.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., July 3.—(Special.)—W. B. Brooks, consulting engineer for the Fairmont Coal Company, died at the Harrison County hospital here tonight from congestion of the lungs. He was a prominent Mason. The remains will be taken to Fairmont.

Mrs. Nancy I. Stewart.

Mrs. Nancy Irwin Stewart, 55 years old, widow of Thomas S. Stewart of Stewart station, died suddenly yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Torrence Miller, in Maple avenue, Edgewood, of apoplexy.

The Captain Was Wise.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The ship groaned.

But the Giddy Young Thing who was talking to the captain was a good sailor and didn't mind a bit of rough weather.

"Doesn't it seem unnecessarily cruel, captain," she said, "to box a compass?"

"Not any more so, miss," he replied, grimly, "than to paddle a canoe."

And the ship groaned some more.

THE MAN UP A TREE.

His Cheerful Wish.

"They don't make fire crackers big enough," complained Tommy.

"That's what they don't," assented Freddy. "I'll tell you what I wish!"

"What do you wish?"

"I wish I had a fire cracker as big as this here section of sewer pipe."

Suggestions for the Fourth.

Display your colors!

Beware the awful toy pistol!

Read the Declaration of Independence!

Don't mix fire water with your fireworks.

Spectators along the sidewalks had better learn the ropes.

The Declaration of Independence is 126 years old, but its principles are as good as new.

Noiseless Independence Days would have but few admirers.

Take your umbrella with you. You may need it for shade.

Rockets are the most approved sky lights for the night of the Fourth.

Sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Take off your hat to the Stars and Stripes.

Give a thought to the signers of the Declaration, who resolved to stand together to prevent their hanging separately.

Remember that Pennsylvania was the keystone of the original arch of the thirteen states.

His Platform.

The enthusiastic citizen was cheering loudly for the Fourth of July and the bird of freedom.

"Rah, 'rah, 'rah!" he exclaimed, at frequent intervals.

"He seems to be patriotically happy," said Mr. Wood to Mr. Smithfield, observing him.

"He also seems to be in favor of free 'rah materials," added the latter.

POINT BREEZE.

ELKIN IN PHILADELPHIA.

He Has Little to Say About Politics, But Declares He Is for the State Ticket.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(Special.)—Attorney General Elkin came here today for the first time since the Republican state convention. He was accompanied by T. Larry Eyre. He said his visit was strictly non-political.

"I have been having a good rest, and my health was never better," said Mr. Elkin. "My potato crop is coming on fine. I'll have potatoes to sell this fall."

"When will you take the stump?" was asked.

"I do not know."

"Has Senator Quay made a request for your services and advice?"

"No."

"If he does so, will you respond?"

"Of course, I am for the ticket," replied Elkin.

"We had a great storm out our way today, the worst in years," continued Mr. Elkin. Then, as though a fresh inspiration was given him, he asked, "I wonder if the storm was caused by Stone's visit to Pittsburgh?"

Gen. Elkin said he had not had any communication with Senator Quay since the Republican state convention.

Mr. Eyre had little to say beyond the declaration that State Senator William P. Snyder of Chester county is still a candidate for Penrose's seat in the senate. Mr. Elkin left for his home tonight. Supt. Eyre went with him.

Brains Were Not Necessary.

From the Chicago Journal.

A bishop was traveling in a mining country and encountered an old Irishman turning a windlass which hauled up ore out of a shaft. It was his work to do this all day long. His hat was off and the sun poured down on his unprotected head.

"Don't you know the sun will injure your brain if you expose it in that manner?" said the good man.

The Irishman wiped the sweat off his forehead and looked at the clergyman.

"Do ye think I'd be doing this all day if I had any brains?" he said, and then gave the handle another turn.

An Adept at the Business.

From the Chicago Tribune.

"What was the cause of that awful racket and disturbance in your office just before you came?" asked one of the tenants on the third floor.

"You know that young cowboy that came yesterday to begin the study of law with me?" said the other.

"Yes."

"Well, I thought he might as well begin at the bottom, and I told him that when he came down this morning the first thing for him to do would be to clean out the office. He found half a dozen fellows there waiting for me, but he did it, all right."

OUR FLAG.

Our flag—its stainless as the stars
That stud its field of blue,
So bravely guarded by the bars
Of white and crimson hue.
The autograph of Uncle Sam,
As beautiful as strong,
Our great republic's oriflamme
Is in itself a song.

Our flag—to have it overhead
What precious blood has flowed
Since Washington his heroes led
Against a tyrant code!
And ayre, wherever it may wave
Our proudest boast shall be
To keep this banner of the brave
The emblem of the free.

Our flag—reversed from shore to shore
Evokes both cheers and tears
"Old Glory's" sweep still more and more
Each passing day endears.
The noblest standard in the sky,
The heart of all our kind,
Who would not gladly, proudly die,
Defending such a flag!

RAINS SUMMON UP RURAL VISIONS

What Farmers Are Doing and Why They Are Ready to Celebrate.

It is odd how many people in the heart of the city look out upon the dark storm clouds, or watch the pouring rain with their thoughts far away. They see the rain falling upon stone pavements, but are conscious only of green fields, or trees, or a nook in the barn or the curiously stored attic at the old farm home. Rain in the town is a means of washing the streets, of causing discomfort when one goes to luncheon, or of spoiling some pleasureable plan. These things are momentarily impressive. Rain in the country is one of the chief factors in life, for good or evil. So the mind of the country-bred man or woman drifts to the old-time when the torrents descend with so little meaning upon the paving stones.

Possibly Pittsburgh took more direct interest in the rain of yesterday than any before. In the midst of preparations for welcoming the president of the United States and celebrating the nation's birthday the downpour came as a menace to well laid plans. The thought in every mind was that it might rain so on the morrow, setting at

SAYS DR. WEIDA FEARED TROUBLE AT HIS WEDDING

Mrs. C. B. Weida Files Bill of Particulars in a Divorce Suit.

ANOTHER GIRL'S PICTURE

Libellant Charges Her Husband With Returning Home Drunk or Under the Influence of Morphine Every Night and Threatening Her Life.

A bill of particulars was filed yesterday in common pleas court No. 1 in the divorce case of Anna A. Weida against Dr. Charles B. Weida.

It is alleged that upon the night of their wedding, in November, 1897, Dr. Weida got drunk and afterward told his wife that he was under the influence of liquor during the ceremony. Mrs. Weida says that her husband frequently told her that he had detectives at the church during the wedding to prevent interference from a certain girl. The libelant said she was shown the girl's picture by her husband, who said he had "a terrible time" to get rid of her.

Mrs. Weida also claims that while they were living at Hawkins station her husband returned home drunk or was under the influence of morphine every night. She says that three months after their marriage her husband began to abuse her, call her vile names and use other insulting language.

Mrs. Weida says that when she would call up her husband's office by telephone some girl would answer, although he did not employ one. She declares the respondent dogged her steps, watching her from behind poles and sheds, and that he prowled around her father's house watching her through the window. The libelant alleges that her husband remained away from home for two or three nights at a time, leaving her without provisions, and that several times he threatened to kill her.

Executions were issued as follows: Jane Stevenson vs. Anna McMahan, $114; James A. B. McIvin et al vs. S. H. Lloyd, $6,250; Samuel M. Meals et al vs. Charles H. Cochran, $21.

Suit was entered in common pleas court No. 2 by Clairmoin R. A. Pitcairn, against Samuel R. Toy, for $5,000 damages. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant uttered slanderous words about her.

Another hearing was held in the contest over the estate of Valentine Stieglitz. The decedent left nearly $40,000 in his estate to his widow and the contest was begun by the children. They all testified to the decedent's mental condition, alleging he did not possess testamentary capacity.

Judge W. G. Hawkins made an order directing that more testimony be taken in Ireland in the contest over the estate of Michael Flannigan. The court contends that the question of kinship raised by Mrs. Bridget Giles, Katherine Flannigan and others, could not be determined without more evidence.

Of the former, $10,420 74 are notes and bills which the petitioner alleges should have been paid by others. Of the assets $1,024 96 is stock in trade.

PURE OIL CO'S. VENTURE

It Secures One-Half of the Fisher Oil Company's Production and It Is Understood That It Contemplates Making Other Purchases.

The largest sale of oil producing property ever negotiated outside of the purchases made by some of the producing companies of the Standard Oil Company has just been concluded. The seller was the Fisher Oil Company and the buyer the Pure Oil Company, both of this city.

The sale represents about one-half of the Fisher Oil Company's oil production and the property lies in the Jackson and Moose Ridge pools in Monroe county, Ohio. It consists of leases on 3,500 acres of territory on which are about 200 oil producing wells and gassers.

The aggregate daily production of the wells, and on which the purchasing price was based, is 1,000 barrels. The consideration was $1,000,000, or at the rate of $1,000 a barrel. In the deal are included the Fisher Oil Company's machine shops, telephone system, and all other features pertaining to its holdings in the two pools.

The property has not been fully developed but a well drilled in on the Amos Keser farm, last week, makes the the undeveloped portion to the southwest look very promising. It is practically all Keener sand production and those familiar with the staying qualities of the Keener sand in Monroe county know that there is none superior, and only a very few of the well-known producing sands its equal.

The property, under the skillful management of the Fisher Oil company, has been developed and operated in the most systematic manner and produces gas enough to furnish fuel for pumping and drilling purposes. It is nearly all settled production. The Fisher Oil Company began operating in the Jackson ridge pool and had drilled very few dry holes.

It is understood that the Pure Oil Company contemplates making other purchases and will extend its lines at once into Monroe county and connect up the wells purchased from the Fisher Oil Company.

The Seashore Will Recuperate After the Tiresome Fourth.

The Pennsylvania railroad will run their second seashore excursion Thursday, July 10, leaving Union station, Pittsburgh, at 8:55 a. m., with through parlor cars and day coaches to Atlantic city and day coaches to Cape May without change, via Delaware river bridge. Through sleeping cars attached to train leaving Pittsburgh at 7:10 p. m., 9 p. m. to Philadelphia only.

Rates $10, tickets good for 16 days, and available for 10-day stop over at Philadelphia on depositing tickets with agent at Broad street station.

SOCIETY

PITTSBURGH society will spend Fourth as quietly as possible, even the visit of President Roosevelt failing to bring to town the summer colony in Sewickley Heights. Those who are in town are planning to see the parade at some vantage point near home, but the rest of the day until evening they will be at home or at the several country and golf clubs, where they will attempt to pass the day as far away from the small boy and his fire-crackers as they can. In the evening, the fireworks will be witnessed from Schenley and from Highland park by family parties.

Mr. Henry C. Frick's afternoon reception at "Clayton" for the chief executive and the dinner which Attorney-General Philander C. Knox will give tonight, in his honor at the Schenley being entirely for men, the women of Pittsburgh, since they cannot show their hospitality to Mrs. Roosevelt will have no conspicuous part in the day's celebration.

A golf tournament will be held today at the Allegheny Country club and the entire colony of summer residents from the big houses in Sewickley Heights, together with a large proportion of the members from Pittsburgh and Allegheny will spend the day at the club house. The club house will be filled with members, some of whom went down last night to spend the three days, until business again draws them to their offices in the city.

Tea will be served this afternoon on the porches of the club house and tomorrow a number of small informal dinner parties will be given, music being a special feature provided for the entertainment of the members and visitors every Saturday afternoon and evening, and tonight an informal country dance will be on the program.

The members of the Country club in Squirrel Hill will spend a part of the day there, going out after the parade and staying until evening for the fireworks, which conclude Pittsburgh's celebration of Independence Day. There will also be the matches on the golf links at the several golf clubs, though little formal playing will be accomplished because of the crowds that will invade both Schenley and Highland parks.

The members of the Brighton Country club will find special arrangements made for their entertainment at the clubhouse in the Brighton road, Allegheny, today.

Fewer Pittsburgh people are leaving town for the Fourth this year because of the visit of the president to the city. Incoming trains have been bringing more visitors to the Smoky City, than have departed on the out-going. The greater part of smart society, however, closed its city homes several weeks ago, and will spend the Fourth at Magnolia, Watch Hill, Seabright, Bar Harbor and Newport. Cambridge Springs, Ligonier, Chautauqua, Lakewood, Saegerstown and some of the resorts, nearer the city, will have many visitors from Pittsburgh today.

Rain Spoiled the Lawn Fete.

Rain early yesterday afternoon spoiled the plans of the managers of the annual lawn fete at the United Presbyterian Home for the Aged. Arrangements were all completed to conduct the affair on the grounds in front of the home, but the heavy thunder showers made the ground so wet that instead the porches were utilized for many of the features for which booths had been erected, and supper was served indoors, though there were many who braved the dampness of the ground, and a number of tables were placed on the lawn.

The rain and dampness and the nearness of the Fourth were barriers to attendance and many who regularly appear at the annual lawn fetes were unable to be present. During the evening, however, the attendance increased and the brightly lighted grounds and large porches of the home were well filled with people. An arc light was suspended over the platform erected in front of the house, where during the evening an informal concert was given and the musicians played throughout the entertainment.

The whole house was thrown open for the entertainment when the rain caused an abandonment of the out-door features. The large reception rooms and library on the first floor, with the dining rooms, were hastily prepared for the guests, and throughout the evening they were filled with the men and women of the United Presbyterian denomination, who cherish the Home for the Aged, as one of the nearest and worthy objects of their care. The old ladies at the home were also happy participants in the affair, enjoying the invasion of their friends and visitors.

The lawn fete was conducted under the direction of the board of managers of the home, who were assisted by the United Presbyterian women throughout the two cities and surroundings boroughs. Among the churches represented on the committees were the First, Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh and Ninth churches of Pittsburgh, the Shadyside church, the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Tenth churches of Allegheny, the First and Second churches, Wilkinsburg; the Braddock church, Hamilton avenue, Mt. Washington, Murrysville, Forest, Etna, Carnegie, Ingram, Mt. Lebanon, Deer Creek, New Brighton and Aspinwall churches.

Cure before cost, of course; but, besides being a wonderful remedy for Throat and Lung diseases, Dr. Jayne's Expectorant is about the least expensive remedy; it takes so little of it.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

Mrs. J. D. S. writes: If you have a recipe for making soft gingerbread of entire wheat will you kindly publish same?

Soft Gingerbread of Entire Wheat.

Put a cup of New Orleans molasses in a mixing bowl and sift in quarter of a teaspoonful of soda; add half a cup of butter, melted; half a cup of light brown sugar and half a cup of sour milk in which you have dissolved another quarter teaspoonful of soda. Sift together one and one-half cups of entire wheat flour, half a teaspoonful salt, half a tablespoonful of ginger, and add to the other ingredients. Flavor with a little lemon extract, a scant teaspoonful, and then add two eggs well beaten. Beat the batter well to have the cake fine in texture, and bake in a long, rather shallow pan, or else in little gem tins.

Fruit Bowl.

H. D. N. writes: Kindly publish a recipe for fruit bowl which is frozen:

This is a Waldorf recipe: Take half a very ripe pineapple, trim off the outside and then remove the core and all unsightly part in slices and then into small squares; put these in a basin and add five or six peaches, fresh or canned, and cut into pieces; the same quantity of apricots, a few sliced cherries and other small fruits in season. Pour over these a cup of syrup and a cup of claret and set the basin in cracked ice. Put the trimmings of the pineapple in a mortar and pound well; then rub through a sieve with a quart of strawberries; mix this pulp with a quart bottle of champagne to which you have added a wine glass of syrup. Pack a thin china basin in ice and pour in the champagne mixture and let stand 20 minutes; add the strained juice of two oranges to the other fruit mixture and freeze it rather solid in the ice cream freezer. When ready to serve put in a spoonful of the frozen fruit mixture and pour the champagne mixture over it.

THE MUSH ERA

The manufacture of oatmeal was introduced into this country about fifty years ago. Cracked wheat and similar preparations followed. The whole population began eating mush. Result: Amylaceous dyspepsia, universal sour stomach, constipation, disordered livers, thin blood, weak muscles and nerves, brain fag and nervous exhaustion. The remedy: Help in replacing these starchy foods with Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey. Each appetizing flake is crisp, delicate brown, thoroughly cooked and toasted. The starch of the wheat is converted into dextrine, thus making it immediately digestible and a godsend to those who cannot digest starchy foods. Toasted Wheat Flakes are ready to serve at once without further cooking and are deliciously delicious. Every package bears a picture of the Battle Creek Sanitarium. Look out for imitations.

League Games Today.

Brooklyn at Exposition park.
Boston at Chicago.
Philadelphia at Cincinnati.
New York at St. Louis.

The opening skirmish between the Pittsburgh and Brooklyn clubs, the first and second place holders in the National league pennant race, which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was called off because of interference by the weather man. The afternoon downpour left the playing field at Exposition park in such a muddy condition that a ball game was out of the question.

This delay did not cause any worry in either club because the players on both teams were glad to secure a day's rest before tackling two games on the Fourth, and it can be set down as a fact that the coming contests between these clubs will be about the warmest affairs of the season. Manager Ned Hanlon and his troupe got in from Brooklyn in the morning, and a confident lot of ball players they are. The team has struck a winning streak, and as the pitchers are all in good form there is an air of confidence about the Brooklyn camp. Manager Hanlon is wearing a large-sized smile these days, and while he would not commit himself, yet he intimated that an even break here would just about suit him.

A Great Quartet of Twirlers.

Manager Clarke said yesterday afternoon that he will use Tannehill and Chesbro in today's games, and it is more than probable that Newton and Kitson will be Hanlon's selections for the day. The morning game, which starts at 10:30 o'clock, will likely be a battle between the left-handers. Tannehill and Newton, thus leaving Chesbro and Kitson to fight it out in the afternoon game, which is to be called at 3 o'clock. There is not a better quartet of pitchers in the country than the one named, so that the public will be in line for some very warm sport.

Eddie Poole, the pride of Malvern, O., and hero of Wheeling, W. Va., is no longer a member of the championship team, having been given his ten days' notice of release yesterday. This act was in accordance with Poole's wishes, as he could not get work enough to do here, and he wanted to get with some team where he could find use for his talents and he has them all right. In this respect Poole will have no trouble catching on, as there is already a lively scramble for his services.

McPhee Hot After Poole.

Bid McPhee, the manager of the Cincinnati team, got a tip on Wednesday afternoon that there would be something doing in the player line here, and instead of accompanying his Reds home he remained over. The Cincinnati officials have been after Poole all season, and there was a deal on for him two months ago, but for some reason or other it fell through. Manager McPhee called on Poole yesterday and made him an offer to become a Red, but no definite conclusion was arrived at.

Manager Quinn of the Columbus club of the Western association is also here on the same mission as McPhee, and if there is a chance to land Poole he is going to make the try. He also had a conference with the pitcher yesterday, and made him an offer which is largely in excess of the terms offered by Cincinnati or paid him by the Pittsburgh club, and this has set the Malvern boy to thinking.

Is a Good All-Round Player.

One thing is certain, and that is whichever team gets Poole it will get not only a rattling good pitcher, but a good all-around player, who can jump in and play any position right up to the handle. As an infielder he has shown exceptional ability. The Pittsburgh officials were sorry to let Poole out. Not only because of his ball playing ability, but because of his deportment, both on and off the field, but with five first-class twirlers on the list there was no room for Poole to break into the game. Eddie will likely decide today which offer he will accept.

Buck Washer, the young college twirler who wanted a try with the Pittsburgh team, will go to Providence for some needed experience, which Jimmy Murray, the manager of that team, can give him. The arrangements were completed yesterday when Washer called on President Dreyfuss and signed a Providence contract.

BULLY FOR DONOVAN.

His Cardinals Took Two Games From Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The locals dropped two close games to St. Louis today. The visitors won the first by batching seven hits in two innings. O'Neill clearly outpitching Rhoades. Murphy was hit safely in every inning, except one in the second game, but the safeties were scattered and non-productive, while Chicago's one error and one gift by Williams resulted in runs. Attendance, 2,800. Score:

THE TRACK WAS SLOW.

Favorites Won All the Events at Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 3.—(Special.)—Slow time was made at the second day's races here on account of the wet track. Favorites won in all three races, but all were spirited contests. In the second race Robert M. surprised everyone by taking the first heat. After that the bookies refused to post odds on Hamilton. Executive B. H. trotted nearly half a mile in the last heat of the 2:20 pace and lost fourth money thereby.

SULLIVAN AND ATELL.

This Pair Will Probably Be Matched to Fight in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 3.—(Special.)—A match between Dave Sullivan, who was to have fought Young Corbett at the West End Coliseum tonight, and Abe Atell, who is hungering after featherweight champion honors, will probably be arranged for next Thursday evening by President Haughton of the West End club.

Mr. Haughton saw both fighters today and made known his plans to them. Both boys appear willing to give a boxing exhibition, and the West End promoter is sanguine that they will come together. A decision will be reached tomorrow.

THE LITTLE YACHTS.

Tecumseh, Crusader and Seeress Were the Winners.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., July 3.—Two triangular races and two races to windward and return were sailed today in the series to select a challenger for the Seawanhaka cup. The Tecumseh won the triangular races and the Crusader and the Seeress won each of the windward and leeward races.

The first race was sailed in a strong to moderate air. The second was light to strong. The third was strong throughout, with a squall in the middle, and the last was moderate to light. The wind was southwest by west in the first two and hauled to west by south for the last two.

SKEETS MARTIN'S VICTORY.

American Jockey Won Princess of Wales Stakes.

LONDON, July 3.—At the Newmarket first July meeting today the princess of Wales' stakes (10,000 sovereigns) for four-year-olds and upwards (a mile and a half), were won by Velez, ridden by Martin, the American jockey. Pietermaritzburg, M. Cannon, was second, and Lascaris, Maher (American), was third.

It is doubtful if a worse lot of horses ever previously contested for so rich a prize as ran in the race for the princess of Wales' stakes. The whole lot of competitors were hardly worth the amount of the stakes.

ENGLISH TEAMS EXPECTED.

They Are Bound for This Country for Big Match.

LONDON, July 3.—The English Lawn Tennis team, consisting of the Brothers Doherty and Pyn, will sail for the United States about July 19 to contest for the American championships.

The English players today agreed to the proposal of the Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn, N. Y., to play on the Crescent courts and suggested August 6 to August 8 as being suitable dates.

Homing Birds Struck Bad Weather.

The South Pittsburgh district of the N. A. of A. H. P. F. held their sixth old bird race of the season from Warrenton, Mo., an air line distance of 650 miles. The birds were to have been liberated on Saturday, but owing to the bad weather were held over until Tuesday. The birds were liberated by C. H. Foster, who reported very cloudy weather. The first and second birds to report were those of Chas. A. Salzman on Wednesday at 1:22 p. m.; the next bird to report was G. Jubion's, at 3:22 p. m. on Wednesday. No other birds reported until Thursday, when Albert Greb reported two birds in. Mr. Salzman and Mr. Jubion each reported two birds more on Thursday. The next race is from Topeka, Kan., an airline distance of 900 miles.

England's Big Cricket Match.

LONDON, July 3.—The annual cricket match between Oxford and Cambridge began at Lords' grounds today. The crowd was smaller than usual. Both elevens were admittedly below university form and were especially weak in bowling. At the close of play today the Cambrige cricket team had scored 71 runs for three wickets down in their first inning. The Oxford players were all out in their first inning for 206 runs.

Detroit, July 3.—Varney's wildness in the first inning gave Detroit five runs, but Cleveland kept after Siever and the score was tied when he retired at the end of the eighth. A base on balls, two singles and Elberfeld's error gave Cleveland two runs in the tenth inning. Pickering strained his ankle in the seventh inning and retired, McCarthy going into the game. Hickman's hitting was a feature. Score:

AMERICANO A WINNER.

Took the Quickstep Stakes at Washington Park.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Lucky Baldwin's Americano, a full brother to Cruzados, won the Quickstep stakes for 2-year-olds at one-half mile at Washington park this afternoon from a field of nine competitors. Savable, Mary Bavana and Mallory, three of the most prominent candidates for the race, as well as Watkins Overton, were scratched. Americano broke in a good place and staying alongside of Stemwinder, the early pacemaker, without difficulty, he drew away in the stretch and had plenty in reserve with which to stall off Sidney C. Love's challenge in the last sixteenth. The Baldwin colt won just as he pleased by four lengths, with Sidney C. Love second and Stemwinder third. The last-named and the winner were equal favorites in the betting.

The handicap, a mile, resulted in a brilliant contest in the stretch. Barrack, Wild Pirate and Bragg fighting it out all the way to the wire, Wild Pirate winning by a head, with Barrack a length before Bragg. The weather was pleasant, but the track was sticky and heavy. Attendance, 8,000. Summary:

ALL IS READY FOR SCHENLEY SPORTS

YESTERDAY'S RAIN DID NOT HURT THE TRACK.

In Case of Bad Weather Today Events Will Be Pulled Off on Saturday Afternoon—Hundreds of Athletes Are on Hand.

Most of the visiting athletes who will take part in the field sports went straight to the park for exercise and were surprised to find that the hard shower in the afternoon did not harm the cinder path and failed to cut into the bike track. The oval is on high ground and it takes a long and beating rain to damage it, as the water rolls off the field almost as fast as it falls.

It was decided by the athletic committee last evening that if the weather proves so bad this afternoon that the meet cannot be held, the program will be carried out tomorrow in all of its detail.

The Motor Paced Events

All the arrangements for the exhibition by Howard Freeman behind his tandem pacing machine and Mr. W. N. Murray's exhibition in his 40-horsepower Winton automobile have been completed. The motor exhibition will be an early number as Freeman needs time to rest for his match with Lawson this evening. The program for the afternoon is as follows:

Athletics—100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 120-yard hurdle, 220-yard hurdle, high jump, broad jump.

Bicycle events—One mile novice, one mile handicap, three mile amateur motor-paced, half mile open, one mile open, five mile handicap.

Automobile events—Exhibition by W. N. Murray on 40-horsepower Winton racer, race for steam machines, race for gasoline machines.

Five mile speed trial for track record—By Howard Freeman behind motor tandem.

Contestants are ready, officials prepared for their duties and the track and cinder path in fair condition for the president's meet at Schenley park, this afternoon. The plan is to start an athletic event on the cinder path and a race on the half-mile track at 1:30. The first event on the athletic program is the opening heat of the 100-yard dash and on the bicycle card the first heat of the one mile novice is event No. 1. Contestants must be ready on the dot.

Many Athletes on Hand.

All day yesterday out-of-town athletes came stringing in. Dahlke of Buffalo was the first cyclist to report. He came early to do a little scouting for a single motor to pace him in the motor race. Gus Furtos of Cleveland came before noon with the Cleveland bunch. He and Dahlke will both ride at the Colosseum tomorrow night after the Schenley meet and may stay over for the races at the Allegheny board track on Monday night. Max Ansesky, the well-known athlete of Youngstown, came early in the evening with several of the Youngstown riders. He says a large crowd is coming today from the nearby Ohio towns. The Youngstown riders are disappointed over their failure to get a motor for pace. They were training for two weeks behind two good motors, but both were broken this week and had to be shipped to the factory. The Youngstown riders expect, however, to do something in the other races.

CANOEISTS CRUISING DOWN ALLEGHENY

Annual Regatta Here of Central Division Started Yesterday—Contests to Be Held Tomorrow.

The greatest canoeing event which Pittsburgh or vicinity has ever known was launched yesterday morning, with the start of the cruise down the Allegheny river, which opens the annual regatta here of the Central Division of the American Canoe association. The big annual event, which includes the canoe clubs of New York state and other eastern points, is being held under the auspices of the Duquesne Canoe club of Pittsburgh, this week, and it is the first time an event of this nature has been held here.

The cruise started yesterday is the first of the festivities, which will conclude with the annual competition for prizes and season's honors tomorrow. The cruise yesterday was launched at Rimerton station, about 50 miles up the Allegheny river, and the Duquesne club's home at Sylvan station will be reached some time today, some delay in the journey having been caused yesterday by the heavy rain.

The canoeists were a jolly lot as they embarked yesterday morning, the visiting paddlers being received by the local enthusiasts, headed by Commodore H. W. Breitenstein of the Duquesne Canoe club. The rain offered opportunity for lots of fun and expert canoeing not on the program. The beauties of the Allegheny river were greatly admired by the visitors, who realize now far better than most Pittsburghers, what an ideal course for the birchbark the Ohio's tributary offers.

The cruise started yesterday will lead to the new club house of the Duquesne club at Sylvan station, where the competition for prizes will take place tomorrow. The program of events tomorrow will offer many interesting features, such as hurry-scurry run, swim and paddle, upset, overturn canoe empty and paddle to finish, and tilting tournament from canoes. In this latter event the contestants will endeavor to knock each other out of the canoes, using padded tilting sticks.

The Sewickley Shoot.

About 60 entries have been received for the all-day shoot which is to be given today by the Sewickley Valley Gun club at their Sewickley range. A big time is expected, as many prominent shooters will be present.

BLIND BOY WHO IS BAD.

Incorrigible Unfortunate Who Has to Be Removed From Institute for the Blind.

The transfer of Walter Taylor, a blind boy, aged 15, from the Western Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind to the Allegheny City home because the boy is incorrigible was made yesterday.

The story of the boy's life, as chronicled by the Allegheny department of charities and corrections, is an interesting one. His mother, Lulu Taylor, the records show, was raised by a family named Bear, near Canton, O. Who her parents were is not known, but it is supposed the family name was Jones. In 1886 she married John Taylor, a painter. They came from Canton to Allegheny the same year and lived in Resaca place for three or four years. They did not get along well together, and the boy, who was born in July, 1885, was blind, caused, it is alleged, by ill-treatment of the mother by the husband.

In January, 1891, Mrs. Taylor applied to the Allegheny department of charities for aid, stating that her husband had deserted her. She and the blind boy were sent to the city home. The blind boy was transferred from the city home to the Western Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind, and the mother and another child left the city home and have not been heard from since.

The management of the institute for the blind say young Taylor is absolutely incorrigible, and at times violent, and as he belongs, by birth, to Allegheny, they turned him over to that city.

DEAD HEAT IN FOURTH EVENT AT SHEEPSHEAD

The Judges Were Unable to Separate Dublin and Highlander at Finish.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Jork, July 3.—The feature of the racing at Sheepshead Bay today was the finish in the fourth race, the Equality stakes, Dublin and Highlander, the favorite, coming to the wire on such even terms that the judges were unable to separate them, thus making it the first dead heat of the year for the east.

Busy Day for Amateurs

RISHER'S TEAM HAS HARD WORK TO LOOK AFTER

Will Meet the Strong Johnstown Nine in a Series of Three Games.

PLAY TWO GAMES TODAY

Third and Deciding Contest Will Be Played Tomorrow—Both Teams Have Been Strengthened and Warm Games Are Looked For.

Manager Howard Risher of the Homestead team has some great games arranged for the balance of the week, and his team will, indeed, do fine work if it splits even in the contests which are to take place. The team has taken somewhat of a brace during the past few games and their loyal supporters expect to see them do much better in a percentage of games won than they have done during the first part of the season. The team has been strengthened considerably by the addition of R. O. Smith, who was formerly a member of the University of West Virginia baseball team. He is a good batter and a fine fielder, and will no doubt make a great change in the team.

Today two games will be played with the strong Johnstown team, which comes with Kid Williams, who jumped from Homestead last week. The Flood City boys have been winning games with remarkable persistency during the present season and expect to make the Steelworkers bite the dust. On Saturday morning the Dravosburg team, which a few days ago played Homestead a 1 to 0 game, will be the attraction, with the deaf mute, McDonough, in the box for them. They expect to beat Homestead this time.

On Saturday afternoon Johnstown will play the third game of their series. The players of that team are all well known about Pittsburgh; Eddie Miller, Boss Graves and Jimmy Ganier are all on it and are playing fine ball. Manager Risher has been compelled to make a shift in his team on account of Edmundson going to Hartford. He will place DeMoss on third and Kennoy, the Pittsburgh High school boy, at short for the present.

WILL BE WARM GAME.

Team of Miners Who Know How to Play Ball.

IRWIN, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—There will be a hot game of ball at Manor tomorrow morning and afternoon. The Arona team will be there, and when the two nines come together there is baseball on the diamond and some slugging among the followers of each team. At least this has never failed in previous games. The Arona club takes its name from the coal mines of Jacob Arner, Manager of the team dig coal and do other work about the colliery. They get an opportunity to play on holidays and some Saturday afternoons. They have the same team all the time, and when they put up a strong article of ball. Tomorrow morning about half of the men will come out of the pit just in time to wash up and get to the game. Thaddeus Miller, the pitcher, he thinks nothing of pitching two games after a hard day's work. Last season Miller was given a trial by Boston on an exhibition game and slightly injured his arm, so he was given a trial this spring, but he decided to keep out of professional ball for the present.

C. notice a few days ago stating that Highland A. C. was afraid to play them, and they are ready to meet the Highwood A. C. on July 12. They think the Highwood A. C. is after newspaper notoriety.

The Brushton A. C. plays the North Braddock A. C. two games at Brushton today. There is said to be something doing in the pitching line for Wills and Noll will be the battery for the home team. The Brushtons expect a large turnout for they have won 11 and only lost one game this season. All good amateur teams in Western Pennsylvania desiring games address George Feely, 7124 Bennett street, city, or phone 1704 East.

The Our Boys and Milvale clash today for two games. The morning game will take place at Milvale, and a record breaking crowd is expected. Lament and Neuf will form the battery for Our Boys, while Kinsey and Northwang will act as battery for Milvale. The afternoon game will take place at Etna, and excitement runs high. Cushman and Jamison will fill the points for Milvale in the encounter. For the Our Boys Bert and Neuf will officiate.

Woodlake will have for its opponents today the Duquesne A. C., and a good game is expected. Game will be called at 10 a. m. Following is the lineup: Wilson, 3; Bradley, 1; Troop, s; Shuler, l; Diemer or Carroll, c; Doran, 1; White, r; Beerman, m, and Negley, p. Duquesne—Lewis, s; Ford, 3; Grace, m; Holliday, 2; L. Mueller, Burns, McKenna, Vilsack, Ferguson, Zahniser, Heyl, Beales, Frauenheim, Doyle, English and F. Mueller.

The Kinksleys go to Monongahela City today to play the strong team of that place, and are confident of taking one if not both of the games, as they are now playing a strong game. The following players are requested to report at the Union station not later than 7:30 a. m.: Kelly, McGovern, Rettinger, Wilson, Burke, Clair, McElligott, Meinerny, Brown, Shell and Diebold. They would like to hear from some strong out-of-town team for July 5. F. R. Forrest, room 411 Union station.

EDITOR IGNORES SWALLOW.

Challenge for Debate at Bradford Is Not Answered.

HARRISBURG, July 3.—(Special.)—The editor of the Bradford Era has ignored the challenge of the Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow, Prohibition nominee for governor, to debate with him tomorrow during his address at Bradford on the "Three Tests of Nationality."

Swallow recently invited the Bradford editor to appear on the platform with him and point out the alleged untruths in an editorial published in the doctor's Pennsylvania Methodist, bitterly assailing McKinley's Philippine policy while the president lay dead. Swallow expects tomorrow's speech to be the text for Prohibition speakers in the gubernatorial campaign.

Gantz Sand Does Not Show Extensions

Since late last year the South Penn Oil Company has been making an effort to find a northeast extension to the Gantz sand development in Fink creek, Lewis county, W. Va. It has drilled 19 or 20 wells to the northeast, looking for an outlet. Four of the number came in fair producers and the balance were dry or very light.

In pursuit of the same streak, the South Penn has just completed a test on the Grant Gum farm, and has a show for a 15 or 20-barrel producer in the Gantz sand. The best of its previous tests in this locality were no better than this one and it is probable that it will not cling to the theory of an extension much longer.

Two and one-half miles northeast of Salem, Harrison county, the Southern Oil Company's test on the Alexander Riley farm has increased its production to 15 barrels an hour. This farm is located north and east of the C. O. Barnes, on which the South Penn Oil Company has some fine producers, and shows an extension in that direction.

West of Salem the Bond Oil Company has drilled in No. 10 on the Smith Varner into the stray sand and has a show for a fair producer. No. 9 on the same farm has increased its production to 60 barrels a day. In the same district the Bond Company has drilled in the Shea farm. This farm is good for 25 barrels a day from the Gordon.

In the new Gordon sand development, near Penn, No. 11 on the Hendle Robinson farm is a better producer than first indicated when drilled into the sand. It looked like a small well, but a second pay was encountered and now pumps 50 barrels. No. 2 on the Shea farm for the South Penn's is a 1 Jacob Cunningham and No. 3 W. N. Cunningham are pronucing 40 and 50 barrels a day, respectively. Fairchild Peterson No. 1 is holding up at 100 barrels a day.

In Clay district, Ritchie county, the Three Rivers Oil Company No. 1, on the Elroy Wagner farm, is holding up at 25 barrels an hour.

On Indian creek, Murphy district, Jennings & Lockwood have drilled their second test on the J. F. Deem farm through the salt sand and have a fair show of oil. They will drill to the lower sands.

In the Calcutta district, Pleasants county, Quinart & Co. have completed No. 19 on the Parsons farm, and have a 20-barrel producer on the Cow Run sand.

Arner Cowell & Dulin have drilled their test on the M. Miller farm through the Cow Run sand, the Dual State Oil and Gas Company has drilled through the same formation at its test on the J. H. Marple farm and has a duster.

The Hope Natural Gas, one of the Central Oil Company's companies, has completed its No. 22 on S. Reynolds as a duster in the Cow Run.

Northwestern Ohio Territory.

The Ohio Oil Company's No. 2 on the Hood pool, at Jerusalem, Monroe county, and test east of the Harper No. 1, the Ohio Company has completed and is drilling. It reported the Big Lime at 1,463 feet. A. Jones farm and has a show for a 100-barrel producer.

The Ohio Oil Company's No. 1 on the Hood farm at Chester Hill, Morgan county, J. B. Nutting are completed and the J. L. Mercer farm and has a fair show for a producer.

In the district Wheaton & Co. have completed No. 1 on the O. F. Fox farm and have a fair pumper.

In the Salem district, Washington county, Wheaton & Co. have drilled in No. 1 on the Hinapple farm and has a show for a 50-barrel producer.

Drilling, Long & Busking will have a fair pumper on the Cowan farm and at the Daniel Robinson farm. In Harrison district, Harrison county, Wheaton & Wilcox have completed a fair pumper on the Cunningham farm and a good pumper on the Ferris farm.

In Marple field, in Greene county, Pa., the Wheeling Natural Gas Company has completed its No. 2 on the James Hughes farm and has a good gasser.

The South Penn Company's No. 3 on the J. L. Pethtel farm is holding up at 150 barrels a day.

THE ANTHRACITE STRIKE CURTAILS PIG IRON OUTPUT

Furnaces Can Do Nothing, but Fill Orders on a Future Basis.

VERY LITTLE SPOT METAL

Transient Consumers Forced to Look to Europe—How United States Steel Corporation Compares With Railroads.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 3.—The curtailment of pig iron production, which is a result of strikes in the coal regions, is beginning to be keenly felt in iron and steel circles, and the opinion seems general that prices have not yet reached their highest level. Very little spot iron is available. Furnaces have more than they can do to keep up with the delivery of iron purchased on a future basis. Practically all the iron available for immediate delivery is confined to that obtained abroad, the curtailment of production having stimulated exports from Europe to this country.

Rogers, Brown & Co., in their weekly review of the pig iron situation, had the following to say:

The question of prices on next year's deliveries of pig iron is receiving considerable discussion, and in this week's issue of the managing interests of a number of furnace companies, east and west, have exchanged views. The opinion is general that the influence of makers should not only be shown against any further advance in prices, but that, for deliveries after January 1, a somewhat lower range should be fixed. This is not because furnaces expect any material change in the relation of supply to demand in the next eight or ten months, but is is believed the lower prices of raw materials can be held the longer will be the duration of the present activity.

Comparison of Earnings.

The result of the first 15 months' operations of the United States Steel Corporation compares favorably with that of the largest railroad systems in the country, not only in the volume of its earnings, but also in the ratio which it bears to the company's capitalization. During the 15 months of its existence the steel corporation earned a total surplus over all charges of $40,000,000, after allowing $109,511,000 Dividends at the rate of 7 per cent on the preferred and 4 per cent on the common stock during these 15 months required $76,032,000. In other words it required only 64 per cent of the available earnings of the steel corporation to meet its regular dividends.

During the two last fiscal years the New York Central earned a balance available for dividends of $15,762,483. Its 7 per cent dividends called for $11,715,000, or about 74 per cent of the total available surplus earned, as against only 64 per cent required by the steel corporation.

During the last 15 months the United States Steel Corporation earned a surplus of $40,000,000 over dividends. The New York Central during the last two fiscal years earned a total surplus over dividends of $4,046,858. Even when the difference in the capitalization of the two companies is considered the showing is much the more favorable for steel. The surplus over dividends earned by the steel corporation during 15 months is equal to 4 per cent on its capital stock, whereas the surplus over dividends earned by the New York Central during the two last fiscal years is equivalent to only about 3 per cent on its capital stock.

Federal Sugar Plans.

It developed today that the Federal Sugar Refining Company, which was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey recently with a capital of $5,000,000, purposes to establish a chain of refineries throughout the United States. According to one of the banking interests associated with the new company the money realized from the sale of the stock will be used largely in the construction of these factories.

Harmony on Tin Plate.

A representative of the American Tin Plate Company today said the conferences between that concern and the wage committee of the Amalgamated association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers were harmonious in every respect. A few minor details remain to be settled, but according to the tin plate official all differences practically have been adjusted. The wage committee of the Amalgamated association is expected to return to New York soon. E. W. HARDEN.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 3.—R. H. Tatem of the United States assay office at Helena, Mont., has prepared a statement of the mineral production of Utah for 1901. It shows the value of the gold, silver, copper and lead output of the mines of the state as follows: Gold, $3,820,216, a decrease of $215,324 compared with 1900; silver, $14,635,109, an increase of $2,905,326; copper, $4,340,812, an increase of $2,006,536, and lead, $4,205,105, an increase of $35,005. The decrease in the gold output during 1900 was, therefore, $4,547,469. The decrease in gold was due to local causes in the Tintic and Mercur districts; all other districts of the state showing an increase in the production of gold. The increase of silver came from Park City, while the copper output increased in all districts, but more especially in Bingham.

Leasers on the Bonanza King at Cripple Creek have opened a new ore body in surface trenching. The shoot has been proven for a distance of 30 feet and shows a uniform width of 2½ feet pay rock that assays all the way from $20 to $60 to the ton.

The Tip Top, north of Westcliff, Col., is showing well at a depth of 35 feet. A crosscut into the hanging wall discloses a bigger ore body than was supposed existed in the property, the vein is eight feet wide and full of black oxides of copper.

For the treatment of its gold-bearing ores the Belle of Thunder Mountain is to be equipped at once with 100 stamps.

The biggest copper strike made in New Mexico for years is reported west of San Acacio, north of the Limitar range. It is a big bluff of solid ore on the side of a sheep corral. The ore also carries good values in gold and silver. The Ohio Mining Company owns the property, owners of the Katie smelter at Basin, Mont., on July 15, it will be decided to sell the plant and use the proceeds to develop the mining property. F. Augustus Heinze has considered the proposition to buy the plant for managing interests, but it is believed he will make it acustom smelter for Cataract district ores.

The shaft of the Laura in Yavapai county, Ariz., is down 500 feet. Considerable drifting has been done on the 100-foot level, where the ore samples $14 gold and $5 silver to the ton. This mine is owned by the Baumann Copper Company.

It is reported that in the Carson group, Nogales district, N. M., there are 1,000,000 tons of low-grade ore in sight that will mill $5 a ton.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The market has been very dull today in all departments. No change in tone or prices of any description in cotton goods. Cotton yarns continue weak, with a poor demand. Fire in Philadelphia last night is said to have destroyed about 3,000,000 pounds cotton yarns. Worsted and woolen yarns steady. Linen and jute yarns firm. Linen goods firm but quiet. Burlaps in limited demand but sellers very firm. Market closed until Monday.

Promise of Clearing Weather in the Wheat Districts Gives Stocks More Stability—Paris Buying Gold in London—Week's Business.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 3.—The stock market was very dull during the greater part of the session, but was stirred into some degree of activity in the final hour, when the highest prices of the day were made. The rise was in the nature of a demonsnration against the short interest, which had looked for a flurry in the money market before the close that would enable them to cover at a profit. The flurry failed to materialize, and when the shorts attempted to cover they bid prices up on themselves. There was a share reaction in the final dealings and the market closed easy. The tone during the day was notably firm and the market much of the same character as for some days past. The clearing weather in the southwest and the great improvement in the crop-harvesting condition was the basis of the strength in the market and the grain-carrying roads led the advance. The money rate opened at 6 per cent and there were fears that the demand incident to carrying over for three days would stiffen the rate before the close, but the rate, on the contrary, declined. The hope is entertained that easier money conditions will soon follow the completion of the semi-annual settlement.

Paris Is Buying Gold.

The foreign exchange rate, however, still holds near the gold export point and Paris was a buyer of gold in the open market in London today. Sterling exchange at Paris, however, advanced sharply today and relaxed the pressure for gold. Another development is the weakness of New York exchange at Chicago, which fell to 50 cents discount today. Chicago reports a heavy demand from northwestern points for currency. There has been no loss by New York banks on the interior this week, but there is a sharp falling off in the movement of cash from the interior. The day's bond market was dull and irregular.

Speculation has been listless and almost idle during the short week in the stock market. The large operations in the money market incident to the July settlements and to some large corporate transactions restricted the resources available for speculative uses. But in spite of the dullness of the market and of some developments that gave cause for uneasiness the undertone of the market has been firm and some individual stocks have enjoyed sharp advances.

Due to Manipulation.

In the absence of news to account for these advances it is generally supposed that they have been due to manipulation by the financial powers seeking to support the market by these sympathetic influences. The light speculative operations in stocks are viewed with satisfaction for the reason that credits are not being incurred on that account on an unsubstantial basis. The sustained level of railroad earnings above last year's high level is accepted as a convincing index of prosperous conditions. The anthracite carriers are conspicuous exceptions and show the heavy losses incident to the paralysis of the trade by the strike. The soft coal carriers, on the other hand, and notably Pennsylvania, shows the compensating expansion in the soft coal traffic.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—News brought by the steamer St. Paul from the Arctic, says the English explorer, Harry DeWindt and his party, were picked up on the Siberian coast by the United States revenue cutter Thetis, about the middle of June. DeWindt is attempting to go from Paris to New York via the eastern route.

Investment Demand.

The attention of investors is directed to a carefully selected list of high-grade investment securities offered by Messrs. Spencer, Trask & Co., under another column.

This firm states that there is an increasing demand for the better class of security issues, which is perhaps due in the main to the large interest and dividend disbursements of the current month, although doubtless warranted by existing conditions. The dissolution of the syndicate having in charge the placing of the C., B. & Q. joint 4 per cent bonds, and the recent sale by private subscription of the $11,000,000 refunding 4s of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, serve to illustrate the sale of securities in large amounts to institutions direct, and indicate that transactions recorded upon the stock exchanges represent only a small proportion of actual business.

Increased earnings emphasize the heavy tonnage and uniform rates enjoyed by the various railroads throughout the country. It is evident, also, that the better class of industrial corporations are working along lines of careful thought and conservatism, with the apparent aim of encouraging and creating amicable relationship between capital and labor.

All things considered, it is perhaps but natural that holders of investments yielding a return so low as to practically preclude further advance in market, should seek to convert the same into securities yielding a higher rate of income, with reasonable promise of appreciation in value.

Local Stocks Were Decidedly Dull and Interest at a Low Ebb

SALES SMALL AND PRICES WERE LOWER

Window Glass Common Was the Most Active, but the Value Suffered.

ELECTRIC SECONDS LOWER

Bank Stocks Were Dull and Practically Featureless—Ice Preferred Was Lower—Crucible Steel Declined—U. S. Steels Were Firmer.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was exceedingly dull and practically without interesting or important features. The sales were a little over 2,500 shares, with 17,000 bonds added, making one of the poorest days of the entire year. As a rule the individual trades were very small, and the prices generally showed fractional declines. In no case was a real good-sized transaction reported, and, in fact, the total sale of any one issue was not much above an ordinarily fair trade on a good day. The most active issue in this dull aggregation was American Window Glass common, of only 650 shares of it changed hands, and even those were at a sacrifice in price, the opening being at 62¼ and the close at 62, both ex-dividend, 1½ per cent. This was a loss of ¼ for the day. The selling was almost exclusively by an inside house, and it caused some comment. The same house also disposed of 50 shares of the preferred at 85, a gain of ½. Two hundred shares of Westinghouse Electric seconds sold at 104½, a loss of ⅛, and more offered at 104½. Westinghouse Airbrake did not sell, but quoted at 183 bid. The bank stocks were quite dull and practically featureless, the only change in the closing prices being a loss of ½ by Real Estate Trust Company at 206½. In the quotations for members of this group there was little of interest. Keystone bank advanced to 380 bid, a gain of $2, while Pittsburgh Bank for Savings was quoted at 800 bid, the price paid for a small lot some months ago. Peoples National bank advanced to 301 bid, which, being practically ex-dividend 3½ per cent, is a new high record. In the industrial group the only thing to advance was United States Steel common and preferred, both of which were very dull, but ⅛ and ⅝ higher respectively. The Crucible Steels were a shade more active, but each lost ¼, the common at 21¼ and the preferred at 85¾. River Coal common was ¼ lower at 12¾ and the other coalers and the Brewing issues were dull and unchanged. Bonds were also dull and unchanged. The session closed with the singing of America and some fun over the approach of the Fourth of July, but otherwise was exceedingly dull.

The following is a complete summary of yesterday's official transactions on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. In order to show the changes in the closing selling prices, compared with the last preceding sales, the total sales of each security, the opening, high, low and closing prices and final bids and offers.

A new Federal Sugar Company, which has been formed to refine sugar by a process said to be much cheaper than that used by the sugar trust, gives the bears on the latter stock a new bear argument.

Baltimore denial was made of the report owing to the transfer of telegraph lines by Pennsylvania railroad from the Western Union to the Postal Telegraph Company. The contract between the Western Union and Baltimore & Ohio would be annulled. Western Union's contract with the Baltimore & Ohio was executed in 1887 for a term of 50 years, and does not expire until 1937.

It seems to be very generally believed that the Illinois Central will get Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

A seat in the New York stock exchange sold Wednesday at $78,000. The last previous sale was at $78,000.

The government cotton report makes the condition 84 7-10. This was disappointing, as 89 was expected.

The first sale of the day was 50 Allegheny National bank at 118, Speer Bros. selling to A. C. Wettengel.

Illinois Central seems to be the new Gates pet. Those interests seem to have the stock well in hand and are talking very bullish on it.

McMullin was almost the excessive seller of American Window Glass common, disposing of 650 shares. He also sold 50 preferred at 90.

The New York banks have gained about $800,000 on the movement of money since last Friday and the indications favor a good statement.

Charles E. Lambing has transferred his membership in the Pittsburgh stock exchange contingent upon the application of S. F. Boleky.

The capital stock of the Valley Trust Company has been increased from $125,000 to $250,000, and the surplus and undivided profits now amount to $75,000.

The official clearances on the Pittsburgh stock exchange during June were 300,880 shares, compared with 434,064 in June, 1901, and 428,784 in May of this year.

During the first half hour Hill & Co. bought a 200-share lot of Westinghouse Electric seconds from A. C. Wettengel at 104¼. This is the largest single trade in the stock in some time.

Robinson Bros. and R. J. Stoney, Jr., were the principal sellers of United States Steel common. Mellin sold the preferred to Wettengel. Mellin and Robinson Bros. also bought the common.

Papers were filed in the office of the secretary of internal affairs at Harrisburg by the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company, giving notice of its intention to increase its capital from $1,000,000 to $14,000,000.

T. Mellon & Sons gave their 40 clerks a month's salary in addition to their regular salaries upon the occasion of changing the bank into a national one. Then they discharged them all and hired them over again under the new organization.

The Pennsylvania Light and Power Company of Allegheny has increased its capital stock from $700,000 to $450,000. The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: Charles Geyer, Emil Winter, James Bryan, Morris Einstein and J. N. Davidson.

Transactions in stocks on the New York stock exchange for June were the smallest of any month since September, 1900. The total amounted to 4,813,049 shares, as against 13,485,177 shares in May, 28,578,512 in April, 11,954,672 in March, 12,960,690 in February, 14,763,501 in January, 16,672,943 in December, 18,350,479 in November, 9,928,147 in October, 14,930,762 in September, 10,771,312 in August and 15,920,888 in July.

A private telegram to Sproul from New York said: "I have not been sending out any gossip over any means as I have been bearish on the market and it is not the popular side to be. A friend of mine, who trades in this office and who has been the best of friends on C. F. I. selling his long stock around 106 and going short around par, covering below 90, tells me that his source of information which has kept him thoroughly posted, says that the stock will be sold still lower."

A New York dispatch says: A broker applied to the United States Steel office July 1 for transfer of a certificate without stamps. The transfer was refused on the ground that the certificate was dated prior to July 1 and transfer must carry stamps. If this ruling holds it would mean that any certificate with the power of attorney dated prior to July 1 must carry stamps before being a legal transfer. The evidence be produced to show payment of tax. The collector of internal revenue in New York has sustained the contention.

A. E. Masten & Co. say in their weekly review of the stock exchange: National Fire Proofing stocks were a little firmer. We will not be surprised to see a little upward movement in the common between now and the date for declaring the $750,000,000 gold reserve. Is preferred stock is relatively lower than any of the other stocks of its class. It is probable that the talk of an extra dividend or a rise cash dividend on the common stock will start shortly. Otherwise all is peaceful with the street.

SMALLEST WEEK OF THE YEAR.

The business transacted on the Pittsburgh stock exchange during the week, which, owing to the closing of the exchange yesterday, had but four days, was the smallest of the year. It was also extremely dull and irregular, the closing being dull, heavy and practically featureless. The total public sales were but 10,474 shares of stock and $36,000 bonds and 1-8 warrant. These figures compare with 18,337 shares of stock, $36,500 bonds, $80 scrip and 1 3-8-75 warrants during the preceding week, and with 11,015.5 shares of stock and $25,000 bonds during the same week (which, however, had but three business days) last year.

The following statement is a complete summary of the publicly recorded transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange during the week beginning Monday, June 30, and ending with Thursday, July 3, 1902. It shows the total sales, opening, highest, lowest and closing prices, and the changes in the selling prices as compared with those of the preceding week, and the nearest ones to that time:
